NIGHT AND DAY BANK FAILURE CAUSED LOSS OF $1,000,000

Announcement, Made by Commissioner Hughes After Four Months' Checking of Institution's Assets and Liabilities, Is Final and Definite Figure.

IS THIRD OF DEPOSITS, STOCK AND SURPLUS

Loss to Depositors Will Be at Least 30 Per Cent; Hughes Expected to Sue Directors for Money to Reimburse Depositors.

The loss through the failure of the Night and Day Bank is $1,000,000. Announcement of this fact was made today by State Commissioner of Finance Hughes, after more than four months' checking of the assets and liabilities.

Since the bank was closed on Jan. 1, there have been estimates of the loss from time to time, varying from $400,000 to $700,000, but today's announcement by the Commissioner of Finance is the final and definite figure.

The loss represents one-third of the deposits, capital stock and surplus. Deposits were slightly more than $2,500,000, capital $150,000 and surplus $15,000. Loss to deposits will be at least 30 per cent.

In other parts of the State, Commissioner Hughes has been successful in suits against directors of banks which failed, recovering money from them with which to partly reimburse depositors for loss. It is regarded as certain that he will institute similar suits against directors of the Night and Day Bank.

Commissioner Hughes, discussing the schedule of assets of the defunct bank filed yesterday in the office of the Recorder of Deeds, said the outstanding feature of the schedule was the enormous amount of the "cash items," $783,535.91, representing Cashier Arthur Meinherr's shortage, and that the losses in recoveries on secured and unsecured loans would total about $216,000.

An instance of losses in recoveries on loans, he mentioned a loan of $65,000 to the Briscoe-Liberty Motor Sales Co. which was settled for about $13,000.

There have been some recoveries in the "cash item" account, but the losses on loans being settled more than offset the gains.

It is impossible at this time, Commissioner Hughes added, for any body to determine how many other banks would be realized on in full or in part, but he did not expect the bank's total loss to exceed $1,000,000 when finally liquidated or settled by any plan that may be adopted. Since he took charge Jan. 6 he has recovered $815,000 on loans and discounts.

Commissioner Hughes was asked today by a Post-Dispatch reporter what the prospect was for reorganization of the bank, and he answered that he did not know, but added that a proposal for reorganization, which he could consistently accept, had been made to him.

Organization Felt Through.

"On two occasions," he continued, "I believed reorganization imminent, but the plans fell through. I shall now continue to work for liquidation and will welcome any fair plan for reorganization. I would like to propose such as a 25 per cent advance to the depositors and the purchase of the bank's fixtures, with suitable quarters for my department to continue the liquidation through the reorganized institution. We are not demanding that any plan of reorganization shall contemplate the taking of any loss."

In the schedule of assets filed yesterday the liabilities are not shown.

The assets are classified under five heads, (a) loans secured and unsecured, (b) stocks and bonds, (c) Liberty bonds, (d) real estate, and (e) due from banks. The assets, as recapitulated, show a total of $1,311,657.53, the largest item of which consists of the total of demand notes not indorsed and unsecured.

The real estate assets of the bank amount to only $1,186.67, and the Liberty Bond assets to only $4,050. Demand loans and discounts amount to $1,010.40; stocks and bonds, $1,049.03. The amount of the

LLOYD GEORGE GIVES WARNING OF ARMED RUSSIA

DANGER "IN LEAVING RUSSIA TO HER FATE"

Premier Loudly Cheered
When He Enters House to Give Account of the Genoa Conference.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, May 25.—In speaking of the possibility of the rearming of Russia with German assistance, Prime Minister Lloyd George said in the House of Commons today, emphasizing each word:

"I hope the occasion may never arise making it necessary to go back and refer to the warning I am uttering."

Loud cheers greeted the Prime Minister when he entered the House of Commons at 3:45 for a debate on the foreign policies of the Government, which is likely to have an important bearing upon his political future.

The Genoa conference formed the text for the debate, with the Premier ready to point to its achievements, such as the agreement for truce, and the economic results reached, and his opponents having nothing to say on the Russian-German treaty as the basis for criticisms of the haphazard at Genoa.

Lloyd George, in beginning his speech said he pursued dealing only with the business of the Genoa gathering and did not intend to discuss German relations or British relations with France, an opportunity for discussion of which would be provided next week.

War Atmosphere Remains.

The Prime Minister, after reviewing the objects of the conference, said that in regard to the question whether the conference had succeeded, he would simply state the facts fairly and let the members judge their fairness.

DR. R. L. WILBUR PRESIDENT-ELECT OF MEDICAL MEN

Head of Leland Stanford University Elected to A. M. A. Presidency — To Take Office Next Year.

DR. BARTLETT IS VICE PRESIDENT

Chicagoan Elected to Succeed Treasurer of Association Who Had Held Office 30 Years.

Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, President of Leland Stanford University, at Palo Alto, Cal., was elected president-elect of the American Medical Association this afternoon by the House of Delegates, in session at the headquarters of the St. Louis Medical Society, 3525 Pine boulevard. The vote was 69 to 54.

Dr. Willard Bartlett of St. Louis was unanimously elected vice president.

Dr. Alexander R. Craig of Chicago was re-elected secretary.

Dr. Austin A. Hayden of Chicago was elected treasurer, to succeed William Allen Pusey, who had held the post 30 years.

Dr. F. C. Warns of Grand Rapids, Mich., was elected speaker of the House of Delegates. As vice speaker he has presided at the sessions this year. Dr. Rock Slyster of Wisconsin was elected vice speaker.

The new officers will be installed at the next annual convention, and meantime the presiding officer is Dr. George E. de Schweinitz of Philadelphia, who was installed as president this week, succeeding Postmaster-General Harry W. Miller.

Dr. Wilbur former practitioner.

Dr. Wilbur is a member of the Council on Medical Education and Hospitals of the American Medical Association. Formerly he was dean of the medical school at Stanford University, and before that a practitioner at Palo Alto. He is not attending the convention here this year.

Dr. Wilbur was born at Booneboro, Ia., in 1875. During the war he was associated with his classmate, Herbert Hoover, in the United States Food Administration.

The House of Delegates, which had been in recess since Tuesday, reconvened for the election of officers and selection of the next meeting place for the convention.

It also will receive the report of its committee on public health and legislation, which is expected to recommend a strong resolution opposing the participation of the Federal, State, county or city government in the treatment of the sick.

It will hear memorials from the 16 scientific sections opposing the suggested amendment to the association's constitution limiting the composition of the house to 150 delegates which would shut out the scientific sections from any representation.

The amendment is offered on the ground that the 150 votes of the scientific sections constitute a balance of power that oftentimes can overthrow the will of a majority of the State associations. The scientific sections, on the other hand, declare that their fellow members number 50,000 of the 89,000 members of the association and that the amendment would deny these 50,000 representation in any legislative action of the association.

The choice of meeting place for the next convention lies between San Francisco and Washington, D. C. It is thought the delegates usually accept the recommendation of the Board of Trustees in this matter, and the board during session yesterday heard the claims of half a dozen cities.

The convention registration up to noon today was 5075 fellows. This does not include many visiting physicians not fellows, nor several hundred members of families of fellows, who accompanied them to the city. Additional fellows are registering today.

Specialists Organize Group Clinics Association.

Specialists who are practicing "group medicine" last night organized the Association of Group Clinics in North America.

The movement for such an organization was furthered by Tuesday's action of the Board of Delegates of the American Medical Association in adopting an amendment to its code of ethics to forbid any sort of advertising by "so-called groups." The new association will have no affiliation with the association.

The first officers are: Dr. T. H. Halsted, Syracuse, N. Y., president; Dr. Southgate Leigh, Norfolk, Va., vice president; Dr. A. Philo Howard, Houston, Tex., a member of the House of Delegates of the American Medical Association.

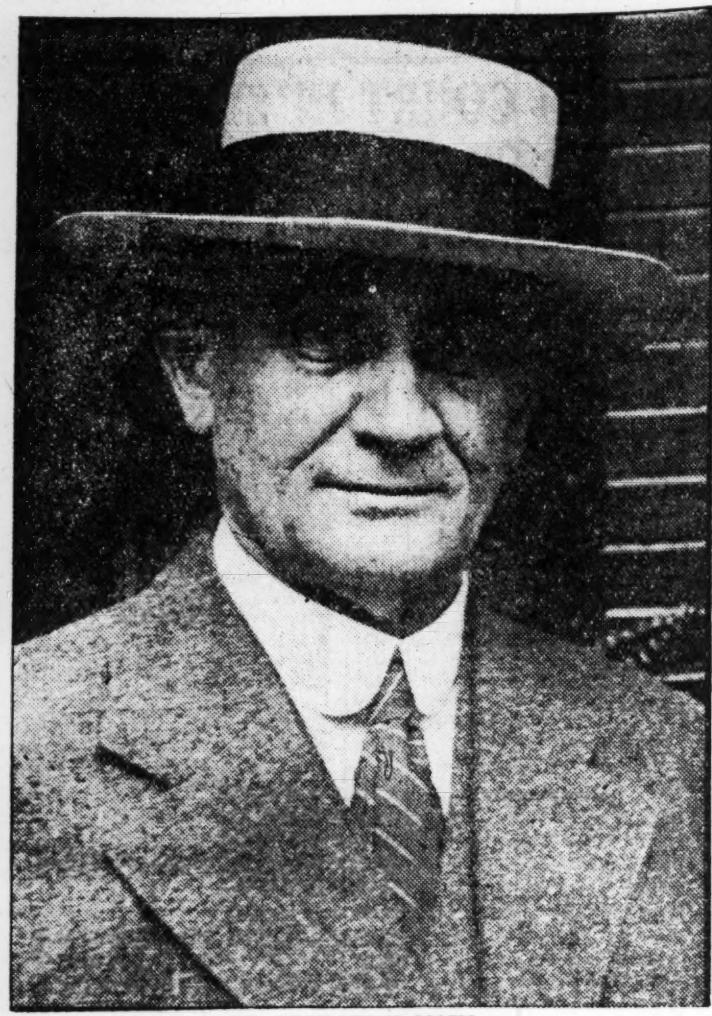

"Group medicine" is defined as the practice of medicine by general practitioners and specialists in different lines housed in one set of offices and operating together as a unit.

Women Take Steps to Organize an Auxiliary.

Preliminary steps for the organization of an auxiliary of the American Medical Association are being taken by the women in attendance at this year's meeting of the American Medical Association.

A resolution for authorization of Noted Minnesota Surgeon Who Will Address A. M. A. Section Tomorrow

such a body and its affiliation with the association was introduced to the House of Delegates today, and likely will come before the house to day for action. The resolution was introduced at the request of Texas women who already have a state auxiliary.

Visit to Botanical Gardens Planned for Today.

Entertainment features for today in the American Medical Association meeting were a visit to the Missouri Botanical Garden at 10 a. m., a tea party at the University of Washington University of medicine from 4 to 6 p. m., and the president's reception at Arcadia Hall tonight at 8:30 o'clock.

Yesterday the women attending the convention were taken on a drive about the city, ending in a reception at the Art Museum at the museum in Forest Park.

The chief feature of the entertainment program will occur tomorrow night when a spectacle with ballet and music will be given in the Municipal Theater in Forest Park. Various medical fraternities and alumni of medical schools are holding reunions and dinners nightly in the downtown hotels.

HAD FACED PISTOLS BEFORE, EIGHT OF THEM AT ONCE

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 25.—Dugald Miller, an accountant for the Kelley-Dennis Co. here, was recently robbed by five men of $4460, was testifying yesterday at the preliminary hearing of one of the men charged with the holdup.

The attorney for the defense asked Miller if he made a mental picture of the robbers, for which the robber pointed a gun at him.

"Yes," the witness replied.

"Did you ever face a pointed pistol?" the attorney asked.

"Yes."

"Just where was that, and under what circumstances?"

"I served with the Canadians four years in Flanders," Miller replied. "Aside from many encounters in the line, I recall once being surrounded by eight Germans. Each pointed a pistol at me. I can describe each of those eight men today."

The defendant was bound over to the Criminal Court.

WASSERMANN TEST NOT INFALLIBLE

The Wassermann test for the presence or absence of syphilis is not altogether infallible, and the result of a single such test should not be taken as final. These were conclusions of a clinical study of Wassermann reactions, as related to the Practice of Medicine Section of the American Medical Association by Dr. Lester J. Palmer of Seattle, Wash., at the Odeon.

He told of the painstaking examination of sera from 75 patients, by seven laboratories in Seattle and one in Philadelphia, which resulted in a great disagreement of conclusions as to the patient's freedom or possession of the disease, even when exactly similar test methods were employed. He pointed out that this was the case, even though probably greater care than usual was exercised because of the friendly rivalry.

He expressed the belief that a great deal of this sort of variation could be corrected by a standardized technique, making the test sufficiently sensitive to detect a latent condition of the disease, but not so sensitive as to give positive results falsely. He advocated the authorization of laboratories to do these tests by Federal or State medical officials and superintendents by the officials, and suggested that physicians generally should have a better understanding of the Wassermann reaction.

A single positive Wassermann test, he asserted, though strong, does not finally prove that the patient has Resolution to Limit Debate on All Appropriations Except Bonus Presented by Kellogg.

SEVERAL ATTACKS ON ABSENTEEISM

After Conference, Underwood, in Senate Warns G. O. P. Not to Attempt "Gag" Rule to Pass Tariff.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—A movement, said to have the backing of a large number of Senators, to change the ancient Senate rules permitting unlimited debate, was instituted today at a conference of Republican Senators.

Called to take steps toward expediting the pending tariff bill, the Republican conference developed into a closure movement. A resolution condemning absenteeism during the tariff debate and again urging all Republicans to stick close to the Senate while the tariff bill was up was adopted, and a future resolution reported to have been drafted largely by Senator Leopold of Wisconsin, and Kellogg, Minnesota, was presented by the latter.

Surgeon-General Cummings of the United States Public Health Service said today that the return from the war of tubercular veterans had not resulted in any increase of that disease in the United States. He spoke before the Preventive Medicine and Public Health Section of the American Medical Association in Musicians' Hall, 3535 Pine street.

of the loans appear from the inventory to be unsecured.

Among the larger individual loans that show no indorsers nor collateral are three of Meyer Katz, $20,000, $12,500 and $30,000, and one of $21,000 to John Kratz, who is on the bond of Meininger. There is an unsecured loan of $300 to Meininger, who, with the directors is under indictment in connection with the closing of the bank.

The director who is listed as having made loans are William H. Allen, Judge of the St. Louis Court of Appeals; Elliott W. Major, former Governor of Missouri, counsel for the board, and Thomas L. Mauldin, T. K. Cooper, a director, an indorser of a note for a small sum, H. H. Hohenhals, president, and F. J. Cornwell Jr., a director, are not listed as having made loans.

One of the largest loans secured is a good deal of trust on real estate is $23,000 to Joseph H. Weber, the apartment house at 4319 Lindell boulevard, where Gov. Major resides, and several other the absentees of the Senate.

Under the Kellogg plan, Seniors would be held to one hour's general debate and ten minutes on amendments.

The closure would not begin until a bill had been before the Senate five days and until a petition signed by 100 Senators.

It was understood that there was much criticism in today's conference of alleged Democratic obstruction to the tariff bill, which has been before the Senate about five weeks and not one complete schedule disposed of.

Albion Mortality Condemed.

The conference resolution condemning absenteeism by Senator Curtis of Kansas, vice chairman of the Republican organization and party whip, recited the Republican majority of 24 and said there was "a much larger absenteeism than it justified." The resolution called upon all Senators in and out of the city to attend the Senate session and attend the committee on compulsion at arms.

Director of Loans to Curtis.

Directors of Curtis and R. J. Guthrie made $5000 on two unsecured notes, and there is a $6500 unsecured note listed against former Gov. Major. There are three unsecured notes for a total of $75 against Judge Allen. W. G. Carpenter is the indorser on two notes for Judge Allen, amounting to $550 and Cashier Meininger and President Hohenhals indorsed two other notes for him, amounting to $2325. Hohenhals is indorser on still another note, for $400, for Judge Allen and a $3000 note for himself is indorsed by Claude H. Hall, D. W. Weil, Meininger's note for $800 is without indorsers or other collateral.

Automobile and the sales agencies seem to have been favored with liberal loans, cars and tires being given as collateral. The largest loans of this kind were made to the Briscoe-Liberty Motor Co., $65,516.20; Southern Motor Car Co., $24,800; Flint Motor Car Co., $18,000, and the Mid-West Tire and Rubber Co., $20,000.

The amounts listed as being due from banks follows:

Federal Reserve Bank, $7117.97; American Trust Co., $67,088.15; Central Trust Co. of Chicago, $62,942.40; Hailman National Bank of New York, $13,703.15; National Bank of Commerce, $28,443; National City Bank, $20,541.48; Lincoln Central Trust Co., $1468.59; United States Bank, $267.92; Commercial Trust Co., Kansas City, $15,273.84.

The Executive Board of the Depositors' Committee will meet this afternoon to decide upon one of several plans under consideration for reorganization of the bank. Frank J. He said it was hoped by that time to have a plan that would be acceptable to Commissioner Hughes for submission to the depositors.

Some Republicans were said also to doubt advisability of injecting a closure fight into the stubborn tariff debate, believing it would retard rather than expedite a vote on the tariff measure.

CANDIDATES FOR
GES OF CIRCUIT COURT

Ossing, an assistant
Cheney, and George W. Haid, icate City Counselor, filed as candidates for Repub-cations for the circuit candidates to be the primary in August.

State funds out on loans
during the year 1921 alone amounted to $100,574.33.

Gov. Small, on trial for conspiracy to defraud the State, reported $450-000 as the interest earnings of the office for 1917 and 1918. Lieutenant-Governor Fred E.
Sterling, under indictment with the Governor, reported $996,000 for the years 1919 and 1920.

Outstanding Loans Collected.

Milner pointed out today that the earnings for January, 1921, covered only the period from Jan. 10, the day he was installed, to the end of the month. August and September were the two banner months of 1921. During these months, Treasurer Miller said he collected on some of the outstanding loans to Chicago makers made during the Sterling regime by the late Senator Edward Curtis. These loans are being made the basis of the charges against the Governor and his co-defendants.

Howard Rice, former assistant auditor of the Fort Dearborn National Bank, testified today that the Grant Park Bank carried a ledger account with the Fort Dearborn. The regime holds the Grant Park Bank was a fictitious, nonexistent institution. Rice's testimony was brought out by C. C. Leforge, chief counsel for the Governor, on cross

Seventy-Foot Steel Towers Completed for Post-Dispatch New Radio Station

Apparatus for KSD, as Powerful as That of Any Broadcasting Studio in the Country, Soon to Be in Operation.

The Post-Dispatch prints today a picture of one of the two steel towers which have been erected on the roof of the Post-Dispatch building to serve as supports for the antennae of the new radio broadcasting station, as powerful as any in the United States, which is soon to be ready for use.

These towers are 14 feet square at the base and rise to a height of 70 feet. The supports go through the roof so as to rest upon the steel framework of the building itself.

The aerial will be of the cage type, 131 feet long, and of T design. The lead-in will go to a brick building, now under construction upon the roof, which will house the radio transmitting apparatus. The studio will be upon the second floor.

A system of switches and signals will provide perfect co-ordination between the program director in the studio and the operator in charge of the electrical devices upon the roof.

Range of Apparatus.

The apparatus now nearing completion for station KSD, as the Post-Dispatch radio plant is officially listed in the Government call book, will be the second to be delivered by the Western Electric Co., the manufacturing branch of the American Telephone and Telegraph

Co. The first is installed in the Bell Telephone Co.'s building in New York City.

The range of the new transmitter is guaranteed to be at least 1000 miles under favorable conditions. Tests have shown, however, that a similar apparatus has carried the voice more than 3000 miles. During the hot summer months, the thousand-mile radius cannot always be expected, as solar heat and static conditions materially affect radio waves. For this reason all distance records are made at night.

Difference in Power.

The vast difference in the power of the new KSD station, and the apparatus at present in use, is best illustrated by a few figures. Technically, the small transmitter you heard last night makes use of six five-watt power tubes, or 30 watts in all.

The new transmitter will have an input of 1000 watts.

The small transmitter cabinet weighs just a ton, minus the crate of wood.

The speech input apparatus weighs 500 pounds and the motor generator a ton and a half. In all, the new apparatus weighs 5700 pounds.

Expert radio engineers estimate that, for at least nine months in the year, there will be within the range of KSD several hundred thousand wireless receiving sets.

Record of Account Read.

Following the dismissal of Rice, counsel read into the record the account of the Grant Park Bank with the Fort Dearborn Bank. The account started with $2000 early in April, 1917. Thereafter at various intervals sums of $100,000, $200,000, $400,000 and $500,000 were deposited and withdrawn, the withdrawals usually being on the same day as the deposits.

In 1918, during the second year of Gov. Small's term as Treasurer, several credits of $500,000 were listed, the same amount being within each case on the same day.

The Grant Park Bank in which $250,000 of State money was deposited by Gov. Small and Lieut.
Gov. Sterling did not figure in loans made by officers of the bank to the Cudahy Packing Co., officers of the latter testifying yesterday.

John E. Wagner, treasurer of the packing company, and Frank L. Clarke, assistant treasurer, testified the Grant Park Bank was not mentioned during their negotiations with the late Senator Edward C. Curtis and Vernon S. Curtis, his brother, who owned the charter of the bank.

Jury Threatens to Strike.

An otherwise dull was enlivened yesterday when it was reported that the jury had threatened to strike unless new and younger balliffs were appointed to look after them.

The jurors complain that the present balliffs are both old men who want to retire early, so they put the jurors to bed at 9 p. m. Judge Edwards called a recess while he confered with attorneys and Sheriff Green in effort to agree on a third balliff to meet the jurors' demands.

FINDS FAT PEOPLE EAT LESS THAN THIN ONES

Doctor Reads Paper on Easy Medical Method of Reducing Obesity.

An easy medical method of reducing obesity—medicines for taking off fat—was described by Dr. C. Lee Graber of Cleveland, a surgeon, who helps patients reduce their weight as a diversion from his usual practice. In a paper before the Section of Medicine Section of the American Medical Association at the Odeon yesterday. The patient's chief duty by this method is to take a simple drug regularly, in accordance with directions.

The drug is thyroïd, an extract from the thyroid gland of the sheep, and is taken in tablet form, preferably desiccated. The thyroid gland is a small gland in the neck, which presides over the metabolic functions of the body—building up and tearing down, whether the body is a human being's or the sheep's. Goiter is an enlargement of the thyroid gland.

Physicians who heard the paper suggested that the public, or rather the stouter members of the public, refrain from taking thyroïd tablets without a doctor's advice.

Eat Less Than Thin Ones.

"Obesity is not to be confused with mere plumpness or the over-weight of advanced age," Dr. Graber said. "Obesity is usually attributed to overeating and underexercise. I do not agree with that. Fat people as a class eat less than thin ones, despite the fact that they have more need of food than the thin, to compensate for the burden of carrying their weight."

"In my practice I have had success in reducing obesity by the use of thyroïd, but to neglect details of the treatment spells failure. Some of the details are:

"If the patient is sedentary a somewhat restricted diet will be of benefit but otherwise not. I treated a carpenter who was so big he couldn't get between the studs of the buildings he helped erect. I couldn't cut down his diet, because he needed food; he was doing all the work the union would let him.

"As to exercise, many of the patients are already overworked. Constipation should be avoided. Coincident diseases should receive appropriate attention. Only the ordinary baths and showers required for cleanliness are needed and the various fancy baths are unsatisfactory. The various waters to drink are not recommended. Thyroïd medicine is better than all the other treatments combined.

"I would make these suggestions for the use of the thyroïd treatment. The origin of the malady should be explained to the patient, that it is not a disease, but a condition that may be remedied by supplying the body with a substance, the administration of which is the same as adding salt to food. It is important that the physician dispense his own medicine, preferably using the tablets, as obtained from a good drug house, and doesn't change brands.

"The physician should emphasize that a decrease in weight of one-half to one pound a week is sufficient; that is, at least 26 pounds a year, and a heavy person can be properly reduced in five years, which is rapid enough. A suggested dose is one to two grains U. S. P. desiccated thyroïd, three times a day, with meals. There will be no ill effect or unpleasant reaction then. If too much of the medicine is given, headaches and other symptoms will result, evidence of the danger of hyperthyroidism. If too little is given, no reduction will result.

Dangerous as Disease.
Inspections should be made weekly to determine progress and weight should be the only guide for changing the dose in the absence of hyperthyroidism. After a while the dose may be reduced to a small amount to fill the bodily lack, and eventually, perhaps after years, the use may be stopped. Obesity is more or less dangerous and should receive as careful attention as do diseases."

A woman physician, Dr. Peters of Los Angeles, Cal., took issue with Dr. Graber's statement that fat people are light eaters. She called the idea a myth. Another woman physician, of embonpoint herself, told the speaker after the meeting that the less she ate the heavier she became.

STAUNCH HARDING
PAPER ATTACKS
SENATE ABSENTEES

Washington Post, Owned by Edward B. McLean, Criticizes Republicans for Failure to Attend Sessions.

By DAVID LAWRENCE,
A Special Correspondent of the Post.
(Copyright 1922.)

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Absenteeism in the United States Senate has grown so serious that public business can hardly be transacted and the debates are limited. Even so staunch a supporter of the Harding administration as the Washington Post, owned and edited by Edward B. McLean, intimate friend and chum of President Harding, can no longer keep silent about it. More than ordinary significance is attached to the latest editorial of the Post on the subject, which may or may not have been inspired, but which in truth is a distinct departure from the laudatory attitude toward everything Republican which the same newspaper has maintained from the very beginning.

Mr. Harding has been the guest of Editor McLean on houseboat parties to Florida, and the entente between the Post and the White House is one of the best that has ever been built up between a chief executive and the leading morning newspaper in the national Capital which greets the legislators with news and views at the breakfast table.

The Post minces no words in its attack on the Republican Congress thus:

The situation in the Senate at this moment constitutes an indictment of the good sense of the Republican party. Now when Congress is under the fire of criticism, and the record of the Republican party is under scrutiny, when millions of voters are making up their minds on the evidence presented, the Republicans of the Senate are making a record of absenteeism and neglect of public business that will surely return to plague them.

"The tariff bill is before the Senate. It should either be passed or defeated • • • yet in spite of the advantage that could be gained by prompt action—always assuming the country—the Senate Republicans that the tariff bill would benefit habitually absent themselves from the debate and the Senate. Many of them are absent from Washington, neglecting not only tariff making, but all other public business. Some of these Senators are away mending fences, while others are enjoying more or less well-earned vacations."

"Business Stands Halting." "Of the 60 Republicans in the Senate, there has not yet been present at any roll call during the tariff discussion the number required for a quorum, 49. How can any Republican Senator absent himself from the Senate at this juncture and then ask his constituents to re-elect him on the theory that he has done good and faithful service? How can he expect to see his party enthusiastically supported at the polls, if the Republican majority permit the tariff bill to dwindle along under a Democratic filibuster while American business stands halting, not knowing what to do?

"On yesterday when a call of the Senate was made, only 30 Republican senators answered to their names. Possibly each of the absentees had a good excuse for his absence, but in this they ignored the names of several who have been habitually absent, although they are reported to be in good health and anxious to serve the country as Senators. So anxious are some of them, in fact, that they have deserted the Senate chamber for the stump where they rely upon their eloquence to convince the voter that this is the best Congress that ever met."

This scathing criticism of the Republican Senators might after all be made by a Democratic newspaper about Democratic Senators whenever primary elections are in progress. Whatever advantages the primary system may have, there is no doubt that it keeps members of Congress away from Washington the greater part of the campaign year. In the state, where a member is up for re-election once every six years, the damage is done by that one third of the membership which must contest their seats. So every two years the Senate loses the attendance of one-third of its number. This is more than enough, however, to interfere with the transaction of public business as the minority party feels less responsibility and knowing that it will be outvoted, there is rarely a full attendance of its membership. As for the House, the entire body is up for re-election every two years. Primary campaigns begin in the spring of the campaign year. The country can therefore count on not much more than a year of full attendance in Congress when primaries begin taking away the members from Washington.

What is a member of Congress to do? If he stays in Washington, his opponent in the primary or the election itself who is not in office spends all his time campaigning. If he leaves, he deserts his job so as to answer the attacks of his political opponent, he is criticised for absenteeism. Senator Harry New, who was recently defeated for renomination, had to remain in Washington while his opponent made an incessant campaign.

Indiana in the Republican primaries, lays his defeat to the fact that he had to remain in Washington while his opponent was hardly a party matter but it is just now injuring the Republican party.

Light-Weight Suits for Sport and Street Wear for Your Decoration Day Outing

Are you buying lubrication or just "oil" for your car?

You can't ask for just "oil"—blind your eyes to what goes into your crankcase—and then expect satisfactory results from your engine.

If it's a compounded, low-quality oil—carbon-clogged cylinders, fouled spark plugs, gummed valves and other troubles are certain.

If it's the wrong type of a good oil, combustion chambers are not properly sealed—compression escapes—power is lost—gasoline leaks into the crankcase—your cost of operation is too high.

There is only one way to operate your car economically, prolong its life and get the greatest pleasure and profit out of it. Use a high quality oil of the exact type that fits your engine.

SUNOCO Motor Oil—the wholly-distilled, super-refined engine lubricant—is your opportunity. It's the greatest and latest achievement in motor lubrication.

Try SUNOCO at once and watch RESULTS. You'll be astonished how much better your engine runs. Any SUNOCO dealer will give you the right type.

(Toilet Helps)

You can keep your arms, neck or face free from hair or fuzz by the occasional use of plain delatone and in using it you need have no fear of scratching or injuring the skin. A thick paste is made by mixing some of the powdered delatone with water. Then spread on the hairs and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and all traces of hair have vanished. Be careful, however, to get real delatone.

Harold M. Hess, chairman of the Fire Protection Committee of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, made the statement last night to several thousand persons listening in on the K S D radio program of The Post-Dispatch, that the fire losses in St. Louis in the last two years were $2,000,000 more than in the four years preceding them, and that the per capita fire loss is just about doubled because of arson, amounting now to more than $5 a year for every man, woman and child in the city. This pays this loss.

"It," he said, "the city government should suddenly and arbitrarily announce tomorrow that an additional tax of $1,000,000 would be levied on the people of St. Louis, it would cause a tremendous upsurge. Yet that is happening right now through the heavy fire losses, arson and nobody is paying attention to it. $1,000,000 Loss in Six Months.

"I make the statement without fear of contradiction that arson in St. Louis in the last six months has cost the people of this city $1,000,000 at the very least. Records of the fire department prove this. And yet the fire increase. The police, the various city officials and persons directly in contact with this crime are doing everything in their power to prevent and punish it. But they cannot do this alone.

"An alert and vigorous public opinion is needed to put a stop to the further spread of arson in St. Louis. The time has come when the people must be thoroughly awakened to the situation and not only do all they can to prevent other fires, but must be in a position to condemn and expose such offenders as they may have against the offenders."

The widely known screen beauty, Miss du Pont, who herself stated that she has no other name, was another speaker last night. She described in an interesting way her experience as a movie actress and told that many of the thrillers seen in her films were made not because she is without fear, but because she was so terribly afraid of being hurt that she had to do what her director told her to do. In one of her pictures she makes a 70-foot jump from a burning building.

"I didn't want to make that jump at all," she declared, "but if I had stayed in that building another minute I would have been burned."

Dr. Samuels, Speaker.

In the special program broadcast at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon Dr. Sebastiao Sampaio, Brazilian Commercial Attaché at Washington, former Brazilian Consul in St. Louis, told of the plans of his Government to celebrate the hundredth anniversary of Brazilian independence with an international exposition similar to the great Louisiana Purchase Exposition. He said that the United States has appropriated $1,000,000 for an American exhibit at that exposition, the same amount which Brazil expended on its exhibit at the St. Louis World's Fair, and that he now is making a tour of 120 American cities to invite their citizens and their business men to participate in the exhibit and visit the exposition in Rio de Janeiro next winter.

Tonight the speakers will be visitors to St. Louis, former George Kenesaw M. Landis of Chicago, "high commissioner of baseball," and Surgeon-General H. S. Cumming of Washington, D. C., chief of the United States Public Health Service.

ARMY TRAINING CAMP ORDER

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Special privileges will be accorded at the summer training camps of the army this year to such reserves and national guard officers as desire to pass some of their time in organization of associations or in attending conventions of existing associations of citizen officers.

Instructions sent by the War Department to corps area commanders recently, direct that in laying out the program of work for the reserve officers, and the various training camps, every facility be accorded for the development of the association movement among them.

•Year-Old Man to Get Degree.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 25.—Cornelius Cole, former United States Senator from California, who will be 100 years old Sept. 17 next, has accepted an invitation from Wesleyan University at Middletown, Conn., to attend the institution's commencement exercises in June and receive a degree of LL. D.

WILLIAM G. M'ADOO ARRAIGNS
HARDING LEGISLATIVE EFFORTS

Declares All Classes Are Weary of "Normalcy" Accomplishments of the Administration.
By the Associated Press.

HUTCHINON, Kan., May 25.—Blister attack on the accomplishments and legislation in the making, fostered by the present Republican national administration, was made here last night by William G. McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury, in an address before the Democratic State Convention.

"The question which most immediately concerns the American people is prosperity," he said. "The business man is weary of restricted trade and high taxes. The farmer is worn to a frazzle by heavy losses inflicted upon him through the merciless process of the so-called deflation or 'normalcy'. Labor is tired of unemployment and would like something else to do than hunting for a job or fighting wage reductions."

"The vast army of men and women of moderate salaries or small means who are dependent on good business for the continuation of their existence are anxious for better times and sufficient pay to meet the cost of living. Everybody is tired of excessive railroad rates, of bad government, and above all, of bad politics. The recent days of Democratic prosperity shine happily by contrast with the unhappy days of Republican 'normalcy'. How to regain prosperity persistently demands an answer. Among the most important essentials to its restoration are not alone the preservation, but the increase of our foreign trade, and along with that, reduction of taxation, a more equitable distribution of the tax burden and a tariff law that will not destroy our foreign markets."

ITALIAN-RUSSIAN COMMERCIAL TREATY IS SIGNED AT GENOA

GENOA, May 25.—The first section of the commercial treaty between Soviet Russia and Italy, signed here yesterday, concerns the entire problem of Italian-Russian commercial relations; the second deals with war-time communications and transportation in general between the two countries, and the third deals with concessions that Russia is ready to make to Italians for the exploitation of Russian resources.

The third section was objected to by Signor Schanzer as infringing on the moral pledges taken by Italy with the other European countries to be presented at The Hague conference. In the concession contained in the third section were accepted, in the opinion of the Italian Foreign Minister, the other countries might even suspect the existence of a secret political agreement between Italy and Russia.

Presumably the commercial treaty will become effective June 26, when the commercial convention concluded at Rome by M. Vorovsky expires.

STEEL MERGER NOW PRACTICALLY ASSUREDThree Companies Come to Terms and Number Likely to Be Increased to Eight.(By Leased Wire from New York Bureau of Post-Dispatch.)

NEW YORK, May 25—Thomas L. Chadbourne has guided the merger of independent steel companies over a rough road, and it is now practically an accomplished fact. Although no official announcement has been made, it is known that the Midvale Steel and Ordnance Co., the Inland Steel Co. and the Republic Iron & Steel Co. have come to terms.

To this three company combination the Trumbull Steel Co. will be added this afternoon, according to good authority, and two days later

Berlin Hill Steel Co. and the Steel & Tube Co. of America will come into the fold.

Trumbull had not been mentioned publicly before in connection with the merger, its entrance following the defection of Lackawanna to Bethlehem again makes the project

a six-company affair. Originally it was a three-company, then under the inspiration of Chadbourne a seven-company merger. Practical difficulties reduced the number to five, and for a while, it appeared there would be no agreement among them.

Now it is likely that eventually there will be eight independents in the combination. Persons in close touch with the situation say that the

Bethlehem Steel Corporation and

Lackawanna, the newly adopted child, will join the group within a few months thus forming a steel producing organization that will be a formidable rival of the United States Steel Corporation.

Successful completion of the merger is a tribute to the persistence of Chadbourne. Although unable to persuade Lackawanna of the advantages of joining the group, and unable to prevent the defection of the

Youngstown Steel and Tube Co.,

which decided to steer an individual course, he kept the officials in line successfully despite great difficulties in arranging terms satisfactory to

WASHINGTON U. PROFESSOR BACK

Prof. Langsdorf Will Be Field Secretary.
Washington University alumni affairs are to be under the charge of Prof. Langsdorf, who also is to become field secretary of the university, beginning July 1. Prof. Langsdorf was for more than 20 years a member of the university faculty, when he resigned after the close of the 1919-20 school year to accept the post of secretary and industrial engineer of the Crunden

Martin Manufacturing Co.
Twenty years of teaching at Washington University was too much for me to get away from and find satisfaction in an industrial enterprise, no matter how attractive the salary and environment," Dr. Langsdorf said.

HANDLING OF GRAIN
BY GOLTRA FLEET
TO BE LIMITED

Secretary Weeks Informs St. Louisian That Such Regulation Will Be Necessary if He Enters River Service.

ELEVATOR SCARCITY
GIVEN AS REASON

List of Articles That May Be Transported at Not Less Than 80 Per Cent of All Rail Rates Named.

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
WASHINGTON, May 25.—Secretary of War Weeks today notified Edward F. Goltra of St. Louis, Democratic National Committeeman from Missouri, that it would be necessary to put a limitation on the grain he could carry in his fleet of barges on the Mississippi River. It was explained that there is a limited elevator capacity at St. Louis and New Orleans. Secretary Weeks' letter to Mr. Goltra is as follows:

"Mr. Edward F. Goltra, La Salle Building, St. Louis:

"Dear Mr. Goltra: In compliance with the terms of my letter of May 6, 1922, you are hereby authorized to transport the following articles from port to port on the Mississippi River or its tributaries at not less than 80 per cent of the all-rate rates:

"Liquids in bulk, including liquid asphalt or road oil, in drums; coal, lumber, sulphur, tiles, cement, salt, sand, gravel, crushed rock and grain over and above the capacity of the Mississippi-Warrior service to handle such commodity.

To Be Instructed by Brent:

"Due to the conditions limiting the amount of grain which may be handled through New Orleans, and due to the limited elevator capacity at Cairo and St. Louis, you will be required to obtain from Mr. Theodoore Brent, Federal manager, Mississippi-Warrior River Service, or his representative in St. Louis, J. P. Higgins, the amount of grain you may carry and specified rates upon which you can carry it.

"The officials of the Inland and Coastwise Waterways Service and the Mississippi section have been instructed to cooperate with you to the fullest extent in making the operation of your fleet a success, the only limitation being that you shall not engage in such competition with them as to stifle the success of the Mississippi river service. You will realize the necessity of the restrictions put upon you in the movement of grain, but the other commodities offered you for transportation exceed all the claims you have heretofore advanced concerning contracts entered into by you for the transportation of any commodities.

"Any further requests for modification of these restrictions should be addressed by you to the Inland and Coastwise Waterways Service, Washington, D. C., for their consideration and presentation to me with their recommendation.

Authority as to Rates.

"Further, I assure you that if you decide to operate any or all of your boats on the Upper Mississippi, you are authorized to carry any and all commodities not less than 80 per cent of the present all-rail rates, between St. Louis and St. Paul, and you will meet with the heartiest cooperation of the officials of the Inland and Coastwise Waterways Service and the Mississippi River section in making such an operation a success.

"A copy of this letter has been furnished to the Inland and Coastwise Waterways Service, Mr. Theodore Brent, Federal manager of the Mississippi-Warrior river service, and the engineer officer at St. Louis, Mo., the latter of whom will be charged with your compliance with the terms of contract.

"Once specific authority has been granted you to carry certain commodities at 80 per cent of all rail rates, such as is herein contained, the district engineer at St. Louis will also be charged with the duty of seeing that such limitations are respected by you.

"Yours very truly,

"JOHN W. WEEKS,
Secretary of War."

ALLEGED BLACKMAILER TAKEN

By the Associated Press
CHICAGO, May 25.—A man declared to the police to have written more than 100 "poison pen" letters which have carried mysterious threats to Mrs. E. H. Shotwell, was arrested last night when he called at a restaurant to collect a sum of money he had demanded be left there for him.

The captive gave his name as Eugene Bryant, 23 years old. He said that he was an art student and that his father was Wilbur F. Bryant, a

EVIDENCE CLOSED
IN BLIZZARD TRIAL

Mine Union Officer, Charged With Treason, Takes Stand in Own Behalf.

By the Associated Press
CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 25.—Both prosecution and defense closed their evidence this afternoon in the trial of William Blizzard on a treason charge growing out of the armed march in southern West Virginia last summer.

Blizzard, testifying yesterday, denied he led or aided in last summer's armed march of miners against Logan County and told the part he said he played in trying to recruit order after the march had culminated in fighting, resulting in Federal troops being called out.

Blizzard denied specifically each of the acts of leadership, in or on the march, as State witnesses had related, and turned his testimony to his visit with other union officers to Boone and Logan county towns on which the miners based their fighting forces.

Told Men to Go Home, He Says. Everywhere on the way to these places and when he reached them, he said, he told the men the Federal troops were coming and urged that they turn over their arms to the troops to co-operate with them, and go home.

This visit was begun Sept. 2, he testified, and that night he met Capt. J. J. Wilson, commander of the first Federal troops to reach the scene at Madison, and told the officer the men fighting in the hills would surrender to the soldiers as soon as they went up to the fighting line. Blizzard went back to Jeffrey late that night to tell the miners the troops would arrive in the morning, and sent other officers to Blair for the same purpose, he testified. Returning to Madison, he continued, he went with the troops to Sharples, and took the men with a small detachment of soldiers to Blair to urge the men to surrender.

Blizzard also testified as to going with President C. Frank Keeney and Secretary Fred Mooney of District 17 to Marmet, Aug. 24, and as to his subsequent movements from that time until he went to Jeffrey, Sept. 2.

Murray Testifies. In recounting his subsequent actions, Blizzard said he went with Brigadier-General Bandholz on an inspection trip to Racine, Aug. 27, and returned to Charleston in the party, but not in the same automobile with the General.

Philip Murray, international vice president of the United Mine Workers of America, testified he was sent to West Virginia by his superior, John L. Lewis, in April, 1922, after the latter had a telephone conversation with President Harding. Going to Sharples, Sept. 1, he said, men and women in the crowd told him they were afraid to have the miners stop fighting until Federal troops came to their protection. They told him, he testified, that Keeney and Mooney had turned the marchers back, promising protection, but that raiders had come over the mountain from Logan and shot up their homes.

COURT HEARS CONTROVERSY
OVER ESTATE ADMINISTRATION

Dispute Arises When Daughter of Man, Who Left $30,000, Appoints Administrator.

The question of who is to act as administrator of the estate of the late Orrin Nicholas of Lebanon, has started a controversy which is being heard in the Probate Court of Lebanon. Nicholas died April 25, last, leaving an estate of between $30,000 and $40,000, of which $12,000 is in Liberty bonds. There is only one heir, Mrs. Carrie Onette MacKenzie, a daughter, who resides at Leesburg, Fla. She nominated F. W. Robinson as administrator and he was named by the Court.

Last week Samuel Baxter, Public Administrator, filed a petition asking for the removal of Robinson on the ground that Mrs. MacKenzie had no right to nominate him, as she is a non-resident of the state.

In an effort to keep out the Public Administrator, Henry and Charles Reinhardt have filed a petition asking that they be appointed administrators because they are creditors of the estate. Judge Messick heard arguments Tuesday, but ordered the filing of briefs before he will decide the matter.

$12,500,000 IN ORDERS FOR AMERICAN CAR COMPANY

Plant at Madison, Ill., to Make 4426 Cars for M. K. & T. and Burlington Railroads.

Announcement was made yesterday by officials of the American Car and Foundry Co. of the receipt at the Madison (Ill.) plant of the company of orders for 4426 cars at the purchase price of approximately $12,500,000. The contract call for a steady run of the plant for at least eight months with an added working force of 1000 men. This hundred men are at present employed. It is stated that work will begin on the orders about July 1.

A contract was received at the Madison plant last week from the M. K. & T. railroad for 1600 box cars at a cost exceeding $3,000,000. Last week the company secured an order for 2000 refrigerator cars for the American Refrigerator Transit Company to cost $5,000,000.

The company also has orders for 500 box cars for the Burlington railroad and for 436 ballast cars for three other rail lines. At present the Madison plant is busy on repairs for 755 cars for the Big Four railroad.

BARRACKS HOUSING INSPECTED.

Lieutenant-Colonel H. B. Myers, Assistant Chief of Staff for Personnel at Headquarters, 7th Corps Area, came from Fort Crook, Neb., yesterday to look into the question of housing the troops at Jefferson Barracks when the Sixth Infantry is re-united there in the near future as provided.

has been announced by the Secretary of War. At present there are quarters of permanent construction sufficient to house about 40 officers and 1800 men. It is expected that the additional officers and men will have to be quartered in the temporary buildings hastily constructed during the war until permanent buildings are provided.

The Thrifty Citizen Who Caught the Plugged Nickel

MR. BROWN had swallowed his lunch and had paid his bill. Cautiously he counted his change. "Here!" he said, sharply, "Take back this plugged nickel and give me a good one!"

Mr. Brown walked proudly out. They couldn't fool old Brown.

But old Brown had fooled himself.

Brown's day was heavy and dull. He lacked "pep." There was a mid-afternoon drowsy spell when he needed to be awake—the direct and natural result of heavy, starchy breakfasts and lunches, taken on faith and without question as to value—just because the food looked and tasted like food.

Thousands of shrewd business men who count their change, take their food for granted.

That's what builds up the sanitarium business, and puts the tired "all-done" feeling into the mid-afternoon of a business day.

Now—it is a matter of hours—the end of the sale draws near—soon it will be too late—come in today or tomorrow and see what you can do with $10.00

TODAY we speak particularly to those buyers who always exercise extreme cautiousness in the expenditure of money for any purpose whatsoever—those who insist that every dollar must be made to purchase a full hundred cents' worth—or more.

There is the "unbeliever" who is rather inclined to doubt the sincerity of customary "sales" events. To all such we say—come in and learn something of the Autopian Company of New York—the honorable position it occupies in the music world as a pioneer in the development of the modern Player-Piano.

There is the "watchful waiter" who likes to think that falling prices have not yet reached their uttermost lower level. To him, we say:—Come in and we will prove that labor and material costs have not declined appreciably. Present low prices represent manufacturers' and dealers' losses—which cannot continue forever.

There is the "procrastinator" who makes himself believe that he is not quite ready to buy. This is mostly a mental attitude acquired by much practice. He sacrifices the present for the sake of the future—which never comes. Our answer to him is the big $10 mark at the lower left.

There is the "practical" buyer who talks much about thrift and the folly of spending money for so-called "luxuries." The real spirit of Thrift teaches that proper spending is just as useful as proper saving. Music is a big part of our life; and it is not a "luxury" when it can be bought on a $10.00 payment plan.

There is the "fond mother" who wishes to do everything for her child and who really means to buy a Player-Piano some day—but who keeps putting it off in favor of other things and thus is depriving the offspring of the one thing most desired. The best answer to that is one of these distinguished "export" Autopianos.

There is the person who really loves music and cannot play—but wishes he could. He spends lots of money in concerts and operas perhaps, when a small investment in one of these superfine "export" Autopianos would give him good music at any time. Where is his bump of reason?

There is the "tired" business man who feels the need of a way to relax and recognizes the restful and soothing effects of good music. He goes to all musical entertainments but never thinks of music in his own home. We wish he would come in and just—listen.

In fact, we should like to talk to all people of all sorts who recognize the need for good music. Those who have always intended to have it, and never reached the buying point—as yet!

To all such we say—now is the time to end your indecision. Now is the time for action. Now is the time to "get yours"—and here is the place, before the close of this sale of really reputable and dependable Autopianos. Come in and be—convinced!

EASY TO BUY LIQUOR IN HOTELS, FARIS SAYS

"I Know From Friends Bellboys Sell It," He Says, in Fining One $290.

There is no difficulty in buying liquor from bellboys in most St.
Louis hotels, Federal Judge Faris said today, in finding Sammy Bruen, former bellboy at the Terminal Hotel $290 on his plea of guilty to charges of possessing liquor and selling it to prohibition agents at the hotel last November.

"I know from many of my friends," the Judge said, "that one has no difficulty in buying liquor from bellboys in most St. Louis hotels. If it wasn't for the recommendation of the Government in this case, I assure you it would give me great pleasure to send you to the St. Charles Jail for the summer."

Bruen's counsel asked for a 30-day stay of execution of the fine, in accordance with custom.

"I'll give you a stay of just 30 minutes," the Judge snapped. "And in the meanwhile the Marshal had just as well take the defendant into custody."

The Marshal did so. The court had refused to allow Bruen to plead guilty to the possession charge and had the sale charge, which the Government had offered because of the absence of a witness. The Government was allowed to recommend that no jail term be imposed.

Four Men Plead Guilty of Violating Law and Are Sentenced.

Four other men pleaded guilty to charges of violating the Volstead law and were sentenced.

Claude Parks, a bartender, was sentenced to three months in the St. Charles jail and fined $240 for sale and possession of liquor April 4.
John Vilos, bartender, was sentenced to three months in jail for the sale of liquor at a saloon at King's highway and Manchester avenue Nov. 19 last.

Philip Polito was fined $290 for possession of liquor in a saloon at 1422 North Fourteenth street, Dec.
5 last.

Henry Osterholz, a shoemaker, who was arrested for speeding recently, was fined $100, finding a gallon of liquor in his car, was fined $1.

George Neudecker, proprietor of a saloon at 1701 South Broadway, sentenced to four months in jail and fined $800 by Judge Faris yesterday, following his conviction by a jury on two charges of possession of whisky and wine in his place and of maintaining a nuisance under the provisions of the Volstead act.

The jail sentence was imposed on the nuisance charge and is the first sentence of the kind here under that clause of the law.

AUDIENCE OF 400 PERSONS
HEARS LONG AT BOONVILLE

Denunciation of Senator Reed by
Col. J. C. Cosgrove Draws Applause.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
BOONVILLE, Mo., May 25.—An audience of 400 persons, about half of them women, heard Breckinridge Long in the Cooper County courthouse here last night.

Long did not mention Senator Reed, but Reed was referred to in a severe denunciatory way by Col. J.
C. Cosgrove, who introduced Long,
and the remarks drew applause,
especially from the women. Cosgrove said he had no use for a man who wouldn't obey the instructions of his party.

Long discussed in his speech subjects he has taken up in previous meetings.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Rear Admiral William S. Sims, speaking before the Naval Reserve Officers' Association of the First Naval District last night, declared that congressional appropriations for defense construction on the Pacific are vital for the welfare of the nation.

"The expenses of the past war would look small indeed compared to the expenses of a war in the Pacific," he said.
"Congressmen and others are not educated up to seeing that it isn't a ridiculous expense, but a necessity to spend money on Guantanamo and other Pacific naval bases."

DEFECT IN DIVORCE PETITION
FREE WOMAN IN PERJURY CASEOmission of Word "Next" Caused Dropping of Charges Against
Mrs. Anna Binner.

The omission of the word "next" in Mrs. Anna May Binner's divorce petition, caused the dismissal yesterday of a charge of perjury against Mrs. Binner, which jury had been called to hear. Circuit Judge Franklin Miller sustained the technical plea which ended the prosecution.

The perjury case grew out of an investigation into a statement made by Mrs. Binner in her testimony in her divorce proceedings. Judge Calhoun had complained that false swearing was apparently becoming common in divorce hearings.

Mrs. Binner, who lives at 2707 Bacon street, filed her divorce petition as a cross-bill, in reply to the divorce suit previously filed by her husband, David F. Binner. Her petition stated that she had been a resident of St. Louis "for 12 months preceding" the filing of her suit.

It was pointed out, in the argument over the matter before Judge Miller that "12 months preceding" might mean any 12 months, whereas the law requires that the plaintiff shall have been a resident for the "12 months next preceding" the suit.

It was argued that, because of this defect in the petition, the court which heard the divorce suit was without legal jurisdiction, and that the subsequent proceedings, including Mrs. Binner's testimony, for which she was indicted, were invalid.

TO RELATIVES AND FRIENDSTrust Fund of $3000 for Girl Whom
He Gave Home Included in Bequests.

The will of Charles Langeman, a retired official of the Peters Shoe Co., who died May 16 at his home, 4555 Holly avenue, aged 76, was filed today for probate.

Langeman, who was a widower, made bequests of $26,500 to relatives and friends, including $3000 in trust to the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. for the benefit of Loretta Firestone, a 16-year-old girl, formerly in the care of the Children's Home Society of Missouri, who was given home by him but not adopted. He also left $160 to her in conformity with an agreement with the society. He left $2000 to his housekeeper, Anna Lemke, with directions to keep the household going a few weeks until the furniture could be disposed of and a new home found for the girl.

He gave $1000 to the Children's Home Society and $1000 each to five Christian Science institutions in St. Louis, Webster Groves, University City and Granite City. The residue is to go to the Sixth Church of Christ, Scientist, with the stipulation that an organ with chimes is to be installed at a cost of not more than $10,000, and if it costs less than that, the amount saved is to be applied to the purchase of chair cushions for the pews.

Governors Halted for Speeding.

Associated Press.
CHICAGO, May 25.—The Governors of several states and other widely known men were held up by a motor cycle policeman last night when speeding in an automobile from the Exmoor Golf Club to a hotel where they were to hear a debate on the Lawrence deer waterway project. W. Wigham, chief engineer employed by Alderman Bevels, was arrested, but was allowed to proceed after a summons had been served on him. According to the policeman, the car was traveling at the rate of 35 miles an hour.

DICKY NOT TO RUN FOR SENATE, HE SAYS

Republican interest now centers in Barrett and Charles D. Morris, St. Joseph Editor.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, May 25.—Announcement last night by Walter S. Dickey, owner of the Kansas City Journal and Kansas City Post, that he would not seek the Republican nomination for the United States Senate, today centered the attention of Republicans on the efforts being made by the leaders of the Dickey element of the party to induce Charles D. Morris, editor of the St. Joseph Gazette, to enter the race, and on the decision which Attorney-General Barrett will make before next Thursday as to whether he will run.

Morris seems to have no particular desire to become a candidate. He is a delegate to the constitutional convention and chairman of the Committee on Corporations, one of the most important committees of the convention. He said today that he would not be a candidate for senatorship until after he returned to St. Joseph the latter part of the week. The announced candidates are State Senator David M. Proctor of Kansas City, John C. McKinley of Unionville, S. A. Clark of Carrollton and Col. John H. Parker of St. Louis.

It is said here by persons in a position to know that E. E. McJemsey of Springfield will not be a candidate.

Boon for Congressman Faust for Senatorship Revived.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 25.—Coincident with the announcement last night that Walter S. Dickey of Kansas City will not be a candidate for the Republican nomination for the United States senatorship, it became known that the friends of Congressman Charles L. Faust of St. Joseph have revived a boom for him. B. G. Voorhees, Republican attorney of St. Joseph, informed the Post-Dispatch correspondent over the telephone today that a meeting of Republicans of the Fourth Congressional District would be held in St. Joseph tonight to determine whether Faust will be urged to run.

State Senator Howard Gray is out of the race, he said last night. This being true, and considering the warm proffers of support of many of other Missouri Republicans in Congress, Voorhees said that the time is Faust's. His fortunes appeared to have arrived.

It is known that Senator Spencer is antagonistic to the candidacy of Republicans from St. Louis or nearby territory. He made a definite effort to prevent Attorney-General Barrett from getting into the race, although Barrett is more inclined, especially at this time, to regard Lewis County, his birthplace, as home than St. Louis, where he has resided for years. However, this attitude of Spencer might redound to the benefit of Faust or some other upstart candidate.

Hyde forces are expected to be more than passing friendly to Faust. Mr. Monier of Carrollton, vice chairman of the Republican State Committee and chairman of the State Tax Commission, a Hyde appointee, who is in Kansas City today, said that Faust would be a formidable candidate.

Monier expressed a conviction that this is not the time for Attorney-General Barrett to get in this race. Others of the Hyde appointees, however, are known to be favorable to Barrett, several of the most important ones already having pledged their support in the event the Attorney-General becomes a candidate.

McJemsey says Dickey Decision May Influence Him.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., May 25.—"I have not definitely decided whether I will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for the senatorship," said E. E. E. McJemsey, editor and publisher of the Springfield Republican, today. "However, the fact that Walter S. Dickey has announced that he will not be a candidate may in a measure influence my decision. At the present time I have not fully decided upon what action I will take, and I do not care to make any statement until I am certain of my future plans."

He said he probably would make a definite statement Saturday.

LOCOMOTIVE BUILT IN 1839 IS TO BE IN UNIVERSITY PAGEANT

ORONO, Me., May 25.—An old wood-burning locomotive, the second that ever did service in this State, will figure in the University of Maine pageant at commencement week, early in June. Its name is Lion. No locomotive in the early days was ever sent out of its construction shops without receiving a name.

The Lion was built in Boston in 1839 by Isaac Hinkley for the Whitefield & Maine Railroad, a line about eight miles long, used principally for the transportation of lumber. The road was constructed in 1842. Its gauge was 4 feet 6 1/2 inches.

For 45 years, this old wood burner was in use, together with its companion, which bore the name Tiger. Cornelius Sullivan handled the throttle on the Lion from 1847 to 1870. Passengers were permitted to ride free at their own risk, and many Washington County citizens having business in the lumber towns took advantage of the offer. In 1898 the line was abandoned and a few years later the two little locomotives were sold for junk. Through the efforts of Alderman Round, Mayor James P. Baxter, father of Maine's present Governor, the Maine Central Railroad officials and the University of Maine alumni, the old locomotive was procured as a relic for the University.

WOULD PITCH HIS TENT ON RIVER DES PERES

Judge Landis, in Luncheon Speech, Praised Stream Often Referred to as Sewer.

Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball dictator, in a characteristic address at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon at the Planters Hotel today, unconsciously scored two hits. He was describing a visit to Forest Park, which he had made in the forenoon and said that he would want nothing better in the way of a vacation than to pitch a tent on the edge of "that stream out there."

The only stream in Forest Park being the River des Peres, frequently referred to as a sewer, the audience burst into laughter that was not easily checked.

"I must have made a hit," commented the speaker.

"You've made a home run," remarked someone in the audience. Again turning to Louis All, the recently appointed Postmaster, Judge Landis said: "You have just come to my house in Forest Park, but let me give you a recipe that I have found satisfactory in the past 17 years. Whenever anyone asks you to do something that you would be ashamed to tell the public about, just tell that person to go to hell."

Again a round of laughter interrupted the speaker. Several persons in the audience mentioned the name of Nat Goldstein, and the laughter continued until Judge Landis cried out at the top of his voice: "It seems to have made another hit, unconsciously."

Pleading for the unemployed former service men he said: "It is too bad there is a disposition on the part of many employers not to give due consideration to the applications of these men. The employers say the former service men are flighty and unpredictable. They do not seem to think that these men were taken out of their normal environment and shipped overseas to shoot at and to be shot at, and that when they returned 18 months later they were naturally a different sort of men. Just because you have stumbled across a few men who were not dependable do not make the mistake of running the risk of saying 'no' to a deserving man."

Referring to his $42,500-a-year baseball job, which he declared he loved because it brought him in contact with the small boys of the United States, he said: "By the calendar I am 55 years old, but by the standards of the medical profession I am just 25."

Surgeon-General Hugh S. Cumming told of the work of the United States Public Health Service in assisting states and municipalities in improving sanitary conditions. He said it was not the intention of the Government to centralize health programs, but to work in a Federal department, he said, to use the department to help the states and cities in health programs.

Postmaster-General Work talked about the growth of the parcel post service.

Judge Landis came to St. Louis as a guest of the Parks and Playgrounds Association at the annual field day benefit at Sportsman's Park, in conjunction with the baseball game this afternoon.

Pimples, blackheads and boils—fresh yeast rids you of them

It is well known that pimples and blackheads (acne) and boils are often caused by errors of diet.

Flieischmann's Yeast is now being recommended for these embarrassing and painful troubles because fresh yeast corrects the errors of diet which cause them.

The surgeon of one important New York hospital states: "They used yeast extensively and found it invaluable, a curing balm." When 17 cases of pimples were treated with Flieischmann's Yeast at hospitals in New York and Philadelphia the results were remarkable. A typical case was a young man who had suffered from pimples for three years. He ate three cakes of Flieischmann's Yeast daily. In five weeks the eruptions had cleared completely.

If you are troubled with pimples or boils, here is a sure remedy: correct them by eating 2 or 3 cakes of Flieischmann's fresh yeast daily before or between meals. Be sure it's Flieischmann's Yeast—the familiar full package with the yellow label. Place a standing order with your grocer for Flieischmann's Yeast.

"Wells Had an Ax to Grind, Van Loon Only a Story to Tell,"
Says Teacher of History*Prof. Wrench of Missouri University Says "The Story of Mankind" Was Written by One Who Is an Instructor as Well as an Historian.

THE POST-DISPATCH will begin publication in its daily editions next Monday of Prof. Hendrik Van Loon's "The Story of Mankind." This is an extraordinarily interesting history, over 50,000 copies of which have been sold, though its price is $5, was written by Prof. Van Loon originally for his two boys, Hansje and Willem—the Professor was born a Dutchman, though he has been a resident of the United States and a teacher in American colleges for several years—and there was originally no intention of publishing it.

He merely desired to interest his boys in the subject. He wrote it simply and clearly to suit their understanding and, from time to time, embellished it with striking pictures drawn by himself. But when friends saw what he had done, they insisted that he would do a service to both old and young by publishing both the text and the pictures. In a few months it has met with phenomenal success. Both adults and young find it equally fascinating.

The Post-Dispatch asked Prof. J. E. Wrench, Associate Professor of History in the Missouri University at Columbia, among others for his opinion of Prof. Van Loon's book. Following is his response:

By J. E. WRENCHAssociate Professor of European History in Missouri University.

To put it briefly, the war was a great educator of the American public. In politics and history, even more than in military affairs, Americans were introduced to almost a new world. The plunge into the political maelstrom of Europe found the great mass of common men and women shaky in their geography and their history and their conception of what it was all about.

As the war went on, the more familiar problems of Belgian neutrality and Alsace-Lorraine gave place to those more complicated ones of the freedom of the seas, Italia Irridenti and the dismemberment of the Austro-Hungarian empire. When the armistice had brought the Versailles conference, the simplicity of the struggle between democracy and autocracy no longer explained to a puzzled American audience the interplay of forces of the so-called "concert of Europe."

The failure of the war to end war and the general upsets of the customary tenure of life in this country as well as in Europe demanded explanation. And the American problem in its solution led back into the past for an understanding of the aims and animosities of European peoples, so the understanding of catastrophe involving most of the world and the very foundations of its civilization pointed to the study of world development. No one who lived through the war racked years of 1914 to 1918 could fail to be impressed with the significance of the past in relation to the present, and for the first time since the eighteenth century the man in the street became aware that history meant something.

Teacher as Well as Historian. Mr. Van Loon is not merely a historian but a teacher as well, and a stimulating one. He knows where to place the emphasis and when to introduce the attractive detail which drives home the point and fastens it in the memory. Whole pages cannot equal the vivid presentation of the distinction between Tudors and Stuarts of this. "The native house of Tudor could steal a horse but the foreign Stuarts were not allowed to look at the bridle without causing great disapproval." And he is not without a certain delicate irony. "Economic systems come and go like the fashions in surgery and the clothes of women, and during the nineteenth century the mercantile system was discarded in favor of a system of free and open competition. At least, so I have been told."

Indeed, he quotes in his epilogue that irony and pity should be the guiding principles of an approach to the past. He pleads for more information and for a more approach of all historic events in a frame of mind that will take nothing for granted. Don't be satisfied with the mere statement that "such and such a thing happened then and there. Try to discover the hidden motives behind every action and then you will understand the world around you much better and you will have a greater chance to help others, which (when all is said and done) is the only truly satisfactory way of living."

Now Professor at Antioch College. In next to his last chapter Mr. Van Loon has disarmed his critics. No other historian would place the editor of Dilettantism and Superficiality, Banks, the father of modern historical study, had, it is true, projected and partly finished a world history, but it was no longer read. All the attempts at world history during the last 50 years have consisted in collections of the histories of separate countries. The mere mention of world history, like that of the philosophy of history, was greeted by historians with a superior smile. It simply wasn't done.

However, the tone of history itself was changing. Freeman's dictum, "History is past politics," no longer applied. The criteria of nineteenth century history which demanded only what was qualified, did not suffice for twentieth century evolutionary history. What was the influence of the evolutionary theory began to be felt; history began on the one hand to reach farther back into the past and on the other to delve deeper into the social and economic fabric of society.

Wells a Fascinating Ax-Grinder. Wells' history was developing it and the impulse of an ax to grind to make it sharp the opportunity. A novelist, once a biologist and now a radical socialist, blazed the trail for the new world history. Mr. Wells' "Outline of History" has all the charm of a novel and the erudition of the Encyclopædia Britannica at the second hand. It united biology to history, traced the development of man from the primal cause to the millennium and burst upon a waiting world thirsting to know why? But Mr. Wells was not a historian. He had an ax to grind and he lacked a certain fundamental viewpoint and judgment necessary for the writing of world history.

History must be written with as impartial a mind and as wide a human sympathy as possible. A historian is more likely to be qualified for the task than anyone else, provided he has the artistic ability to import what he understands.

To a witty Dutch historian we are indebted for the accomplishment of this task. We shall not soon forget

WOMEN WEAR 'LONG' BADGES TO HEAR REED*Antagonism to Senator Open at Meetings in Carthage and Joplin.*By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JOPLIN, Mo., May 25.—Frank and open hostility greeted Senator Reed in the two towns which he visited yesterday in Jasper County, scene of his repudiation by the Democratic State convention in 1920. The Senator spoke last night to an audience of approximately 3700 in a pavilion of one of the Joplin parks, and previously had addressed probably 600 in the County Courthouse at Carthage in the afternoon.

The Carthage audience, assembled in a courtroom, gave the Senator a hearing without interruption, but women of a "Long for Senator" club, formed last week, throughout his speech sat in the jury box with nine of their number wearing blue and white "Long" badges. The group, headed by Mrs. Martha Tafte of Joplin, one of the delegates-at-large to the Democratic national convention at San Francisco in 1920.

These women obviously had no sympathy with the Senator's utterances, expression on their faces indicating steadfast disapproval. Mrs. Tafte several times manifested a desire, suppressed, however, to say something in answer to the Reed Applauded by But Few.

The remainder of the crowd, too, with the exception of probably 50 to 100, who applauded from time to time, with indication of hearty approval.

Undeterred by this fact, however, Reed made his speech as he had intended, renewed again and again his assertions that he would not undo one of the acts for which he is being so bitterly criticised, and with all earnestness repeated his declaration that he had not been sent to Washington to agree with a President unless he thought the executive was right.

For the most part Reed addressed himself directly to the jury box. Not even his moving tribute to motherhood, however, had the slightest tendency to thaw the icy antagonism there, even while eyes moistened and chins quivered elsewhere in the crowd.

It was said with some authority by Carthage Democrats that a plan, seriously had been considered among some of those opposed to Reed, to organize a walkout, heckling or other devices to embarrass the Reed meeting, so wide has become the chasm between the Senator and those who are against him. Counsel toward conservatism prevailed, however, and Reed was heard through.

Former Contests Recalled.

Those present yesterday recalled that it was at the Jasper County Democratic convention in 1920 that this county took the lead in adopting resolutions condemning Reed. They remembered, too, that at the State convention at Joplin later, a speech permitting the Senator to represent his district at the national convention, perhaps the most telling of Father a Farmer and Teacher.

His father was an educated man, who divided his time between teaching school and farming, and who prospered little more than to the extent of earning a living for his family. When Reed was a small boy the family moved from Pennsylvania to Knox County, Missouri, where they remained until the boy was about 13 years old, moving then by covered wagon to Southeastern Kansas, where Reed obtained a farm.

Reed and his 11-year-old brother walked virtually the entire 350 miles from Knox County to their new Kansas home, driving the loose cattle. They traversed a route much of which then was a wilderness, through Central Missouri, crossing the Missouri River at Glasgow, and moving on through Knobster, Nevada and Fort Scott, Kan., to Sedan, Kan., where Reed obtained a farm.

He stated that each county and St. Louis and Kansas City should have exclusive jurisdiction on their own tax assessments and that the State Board of Equalization should be abolished.

In Favor of Home Rule.

Reed also declared himself in favor of home rule for the large population and election affairs. The delegates had not considered Reed's suggestions carefully when they convened, and were not at all sure they would agree with him, but he immediately became very popular personally with the delegates. This resulted in an almost unanimous turn to him for the presidency of the conference when a deadlock between other candidates came about.

Although a member of the Committee of Eight, which had assumed the duty of arrangements of the preliminary organization, and was very popular with the mass of delegates, Reed, because of his democratic way, his frequent consultations with delegates who were not members of the general and his general air of friendliness, escaped the resentment which delegates showed to other members of the committee, and there was no difficulty in bringing about his election.

In his address of acceptance he pledged himself to a conscientious effort to conduct the affairs of the convention on a strictly nonpartisan basis, and urged the delegates to a serious consideration for the proposed changes in the Constitution, to the end that a Constitution which would meet public approval might be obtained.

The night meeting at Joplin brought a flash of excitement when former Congressman Decker was addressing Reed, when mention of Weeks' speech brought a few rousing shouts of "Hurrah for Wilson," and equally rousing echoes of "Hurrah for Reed." It soon subsided, however, and there were no further breaks.

Decker declared that Reed had stood squarely upon all of the Democratic platform upon which he had been elected, and asserted that after Reed had voted upon the league upon which at that time he had not read out of the party because afterward a Democratic Congress declared that upon this proposal he was wrong.

Sentiment Against Reed.

Farmers on the street corner in Carthage and men of various activities in Joplin to whom inquiries were addressed maintained that the predominant sentiment in the county is against Reed, and largely because of his differences with former President Wilson. Little organizing has been done for Long among the men, but much among those who are against him. Counsel toward conservatism prevailed, however, and there were no further breaks.

Decker declared that Reed had stood squarely upon all of the Democratic platform upon which he had been elected, and asserted that after Reed had voted upon the league upon which at that time he had not read out of the party because afterward a Democratic Congress declared that upon this proposal he was wrong.

Reference to League.

Reed, who has had little to say of the league on the stump prior to last night, took this lead, declaring at the outset of his address that "the way to keep out of war is to keep out of European politics and follow the teachings of George Washington."

Joplin Newspaper Attacked.

In the main the remainder of his speech was similar to those which he has delivered in other parts of the State, except a vigorous attack on the Joplin Globe, a newspaper here which had criticised the Senator rather vigorously, editorially.

President of Constitutional Convention, Now Wealthy,
Once a Barefoot Farm Boy*Cassius M. Shartel Has Declared Himself in Favor of Home Rule for Large Cities and Abolition of Equalization Board.*By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 25.—When the committee which was charged with the duty of preparing rules for the government of the constitutional convention reached the subject of the number of employees of the convention would be, there were some members who advocated a rule giving to each of the $3 delegates a clerical. The conference continued for several hours, until finally Cassius M. Shartel of Neosho, a member of the committee, remarked: "I had a Scotch Presbyterian grandfather who was, to put it conservatively, just a little careful in the expenditure of money. He always made certain that he was getting full value for each penny he expended. In some degree at least this characteristic has descended to me. I want this conference to have just as many clerks as are necessary to transact properly the business of the convention, yet in the opinion that most of the delegates has in his personal business a larger number of employees than he deems necessary. We should be fully as careful in handling other people's money as we are in handling our own."

List of 52 Employers.

The remainder then worked out the list of employees, making a total of $2, including all elective officers, stenographers and clerks, which may or may not have had something to do with the fact that several days later Shartel was elected president of the convention. He is 62 years old and looks and acts like a man of about 40, and is typical of the type of Missourian who as a barefoot boy started without anything of material resources and has become financially independent through his own efforts.

Raised Pedigreed Hogs at Cattle.

Shartel, although residing in the town of Neosho, owns one of the finest medium-sized farms in the southwest. He is a good hog raiser, giving his personal attention. He admits actually working on the farm during busy seasons. His farm consists of 240 acres, on which he has a beautiful home. He has raised pedigree hogs and is now building up a herd of registered Jersey cattle.

Shartel was placed by the Republican State Committee on the bi-partisan slate of delegates to the Constitutional Convention and immediately after his election began a study of the questions which probably would come before the convention, giving particular attention to taxation.

He submitted to other delegates long before the convention adjourned the estate and personal property taxation for State purposes which should be abolished, and that State revenues should be derived from such special taxes as income, inheritance and corporation franchises, and that real estate and personal property should be assessed only for county, city, school and road purposes.

He stated that each county and St. Louis and Kansas City should have exclusive jurisdiction on their own tax assessments and that the State Board of Equalization should be abolished.

In Favor of Home Rule.

Shartel also declared himself in favor of home rule for the large population and election affairs. The delegates had not considered Shartel's suggestions carefully when they convened, and were not at all sure they would agree with him, but he immediately became very popular personally with the delegates. This resulted in an almost unanimous turn to him for the presidency of the conference when a deadlock between other candidates came about.

Although a member of the Committee of Eight, which had assumed the duty of arrangements of the preliminary organization, and was very popular with the mass of delegates, Reed, because of his democratic way, his frequent consultations with delegates who were not members of the general and his general air of friendliness, escaped the resentment which delegates showed to other members of the committee, and there was no difficulty in bringing about his election.

In his address of acceptance he pledged himself to a conscientious effort to conduct the affairs of the convention on a strictly nonpartisan basis, and urged the delegates to a serious consideration for the proposed changes in the Constitution, to the end that a Constitution which would meet public approval might be obtained.

Speeches Reed Asked the Dries in His Audiences What They Thought of the Action of former President Wilson.

"Any concern that can't settle anything in the United States is a waste of time," he said. "I have been told that the United States depends so much upon the United States that we had better stay out and go it alone."

"I'll never vote for a contract that will send an American boy across the sea to die in quarrels of other countries."

Reed was introduced to the Carthage audience by Halliburton as "the greatest statesman and Democrat in Missouri."

After a plea to the crowd for quiet, that he not be required to try his voice too severely, Reed reminded of other campaigns in which he has spoken in Carthage, declaring that he had been on the stump in Missouri during every campaign but one in the last 10 years.

"I served in the Senate with President Harding. He's a fine gentleman and a good oil player and all that. But I just as soon disengaged with him now as in the Senate and I'm not in the Senate now," he said.

"In those other campaigns I stood beside William Joel Stone and Champ

BANKERS DISCUSSLOAN TO GERMANY*J. P. Morgan Admittedly Dominating Influence at Paris Financial Conference.*By the Associated Press.

PARIS, May 25.—The second day of the International Bankers' Conference found the situation less reassuring, for, according to Berlin advices, Germany is likely to reject Finance Minister Hermes' proposals for balancing the budget, which the Reparations Commission found acceptable. Such a step would considerably add to the task before the bankers.

Even if the Hermes' proposals are endorsed in Berlin, today's newspaper point out, the bankers will not perhaps be satisfied with the guarantees given by the Reparations Commission, which are not influenced by sentimental or diplomatic considerations, it is stated. It will require time and securities which can readily be controlled.

LONG DENIES CHARGE
OF FORMER EDITORSenate Aspirant Says He Paid
Nothing for Support of Cape
Girardeau Sun in 1920.

Bricklin Long, candidate for the Democratic nomination for the United States Senate, today denied that he paid $5000, or any other sum, to the Cape Girardeau Sun, a morning daily, for its support in the 1920 primary campaign, when he was one of several candidates for the senatorial nomination.

James P. Whiteside of Foristell, Mo., former editor of the Cape Girardeau Sun, has issued a statement declaring that, during the primary campaign of 1920, the Sun received, from some source not made known Whiteside, two payments of $5000 each, and that the paper thereafter supported Long. Whiteside says he believes the money was contributed by Long.

Long, who speaks tonight at Marshall, answered a long-distance telephone call from the Post-Dispatch before he left Boonville this morning.

Statement Declared False.

"Whiteside's statement is a malicious falsehood," Long said. "In 1920 Whiteside asked me to buy stock which he said he held in some paper—I believe it was the Sun. He intimated that if I did not buy some statement would be made, such as he has now made, reflecting on me. I told him to go ahead and make any statement he wished. A lawyer representing Whiteside made the same proposal to me and I gave him the same answer. After that I heard no more of the matter."

"Whiteside's statement is in his face, in speech and bearing. Its implications are absolutely false, and I am sure he knows this. The Cape Girardeau Sun and many other papers supported me in 1920, and not one of them got a dollar from me."

Whiteside's statement is that in February, 1920, when he was secretary and treasurer of the company publishing the Sun, Charles C. Oliver, president of the company, discussed with him a proposal to offer Long some stock in the company. He says Oliver told him later that W. R. Hollister had approved the proposal, and had agreed to take it up with Long. Hollister is now Long's campaign manager, but was not his manager at that time.

Whiteside says Oliver gave him no further information, but that Oliver was then in the process of delivering letters from Long, and that two bank deposits of $12500 each were made to the company's credit within a short time. The night after the first deposit, he says, a lengthy telegram from Long's headquarters was received, and the substance of it was printed in the Sun, which continued thereafter to print matter favorable to Long.

Source of Information.

In May, 1920, Whiteside left the Sun. He says he asked A. Lyman Donlin, secretary of the Missouri Federation of Commercial Clubs, to find out for him how much Long had contributed to the Sun. He says Donlin reported to him that Long had invested $5000, saying that he learned this from a banker in Cape Girardeau.

Whiteside says he then offered Long his stock in the Sun, but Long refused to buy. Whiteside says his lawyer reported to him that Long said he had contracted to sell $50,000 worth of stock in the Capital News. Hollister's paper in Jefferson City, and that, being able to sell only about $10,000 worth, he had been obliged to take $40,000 worth himself.

The latter part of Whiteside's statement was denied today both by Long and by Hollister. Hollister denied that he had any dealings with any representative of the Cape Girardeau Sun, or that Long had an agreement with him to sell stock in the Capital News.

GATED WOMAN.

The strides made in recent days in the emancipation of the sexes is no more than in some of the marriage ceremony of the past, as is shown by the commission book of common prayer.

As is now the case, the woman will be required to serve, and no longer will she be one to give her away herself. But if there is to be a leveling, more will the bridegroom demand. "With all my worldly goods." Thus, on each side, she is more than ever.

Many there are who are passing off the old forms, since the first issue of the time of Edward VI. It will be vain, for, as the revision is due to present conditions, a complete admission in the emancipation which is in modern life.

Plans or a $100,000 community house, which will be erected by Episcopalians for students of the University of Missouri at Columbia, Mo., will be announced tomorrow by the Rev. J. H. George, rector of the Calvary Episcopal Church, Columbia, at the annual quarterly meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Episcopal Church, at St. Michael and All Angels Church, 6100 Ellinwood avenue.

The meeting will open at 10 a. m. with a celebration of the Holy Communion, at which Bishop Tuttle, Bishop Johnson and the Rev. George E. Norton, will officiate. The women of the church will serve a complimentary luncheon at noon, and a speaker of the afternoon will be Mrs. Jonas Viles, president of the Woman's Auxiliary of Columbia.

will be squarely joined when he becomes Lodge's opponent.

Wilson's Blame

Whipple has not yet come out in the open with his candidacy. The seasoned politicians believe he will make no public announcement until after the ball has returned and the two have talked matters over. What is there to this report one can merely speculate, but it does sound ominous as far as Lodge's interests are concerned.

Woodrow Wilson's blessings undoubtedly will be conferred upon Mr. Whipple when he becomes the candidate of the party of which the ex-President is the leader, and no one—say Boston Republicans as well as Democrats—will enjoy a more hearty laugh than the author of the League of Nations when on the day after election he may discover that Lodge, his arch enemy, has been elected through a combination of efforts on the part of Whipple, the Democratic champion of the league here, and McCall, the Republican proponent of the League.

Wilson thought enough of Whipple, say Massachusetts Democrats, to offer him the United States attorney-generalship in his administration. Whipple, having turned it down, Wilson named Palmer. That conclude the folks in the Bay State is good enough evidence of Wilson's faith in the man who, it is expected, will take the measure of Henry Cabot Lodge.

Boston Professor to Run for Senate on League Platform.

BOSTON, May 23.—Prof. Dallas Lore Sharp of Boston University today took out Democratic nomination papers in the United States Senate. Prof. Sharp intends to run on the League of Nations issue. He is described by his supporters as a "Woodrow Wilson Democrat."

strange that carries you on almost without effort.

As you lay it down you envy Mr. Van Loon's children, and regret that the textbook of history you studied was not something like this. The book is for boys and girls, but the same art has made it attractive to grownups as well. It might be said in passing that only exceptional boys and girls will be able to understand all of it; for it must be remembered that Mr. Van Loon's children have had exceptional advantages in environment and training.

He is no pessimist, nor does he see a millennium near. With Condorcet he believes that "nature has set no limits to our hopes, and the picture of the human race, from the time of its creation and marching with firm steps toward the goal of truth and virtue and happiness, offers to the philosopher, which consoles him for the errors, for the crimes and the injustice which still pollute the earth." But to him "we moderns" are not "modern" at all. On the contrary, we still belong to the last generations of the cave-dwellers. The foundations for the new era were laid but yesterday."

WU PEI-FU HOLDING ALD OF THAT HE MAY JUDGE SENTIMENT

By the Associated Press.

PEKIN, May 23.—Gen. Wu Pei-Fu has assumed active direction of the affairs of his headquarters at Pao Tang, capital of Chih Province. He has refused to locate in Peking because, he has explained, he does not desire to associate himself with a government headed by President Hsu Shih-Chang.

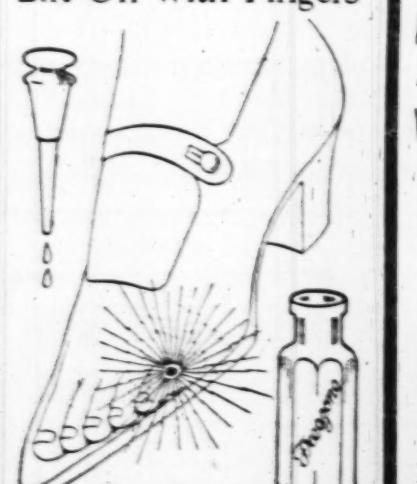

On the contrary, he wishes to remain aloof from both the Canton and Peking Governments, with a view to ascertaining the sentiment of the country as to whether the old Parliament should be summoned to elect a new President acceptable to both the North and South thus automatically eliminating Hsu Shih-Chang and Sun Yat Sen.

"China cannot endure indefinitely under the present government," said Gen. Wu today. "The people demand unity, the termination of civil strife and relief from the burden of militarism."

Events at both Peking and Canton are said to be shaping favorably toward Wu Pei-Fu's unification plans.

DOUBLE EAGLE STAMPSWITNESSES TESTIFY
FOR VAN CLEAVEWife Seeking Separate Maintenance Is Said to Have Been Jealous of Husband.Trial of the separate maintenance suit of Mrs. Blanche B. Van Cleave, 2555 Clifton avenue, against Arville
E. Van Cleave, proprietor of the Grand View Fire Clay mines, 5021
Fowler avenue, will be resumed tomorrow. No evidence is being heard today, as a default docket is being disposed of in Judge Garesche's division of the Circuit Court of Domestic Relations.Witnesses for Van Cleave testified yesterday that Mrs. Van Cleave was jealous of her husband, that she frequently swore at him in the presence of others and that on several occasions she flourished a revolver and threatened to kill him and his relatives.Mrs. Tiny McCloud, 25 years old, of 5445 Odell avenue, Van Cleave's sister, recited an incident which occurred in 1902, when she was but 9 years old. She quoted profanity which, she asserted, was used by Mrs. Van Cleave."Well, I could not help but be impressed by the manner in which Mrs. Van Cleave expressed herself," replied Mrs. McCloud.Other witnesses, whose testimony was of a similar nature, were two more sisters of Van Cleave, Mrs.
Michael F. Sullivan of Maplewood and Miss Jewel Van Cleave of Clayton.Miss Laura Sherman, an investigator for the Court of Domestic Relations, testified that Van Cleave told her he had given $10,000 in Liberty Bonds to his stenographer, Miss Blanchel Nations, 8821 Grand street, who had been mentioned by Mrs. Van Cleave as the cause of her domestic unsuccess. Van Cleave also told her, she said, that he left his wife because she had placed her automobile in his garage, leaving no room for his car.Mrs. Van Cleave has testified her husband is worth about $563,000, and that he was a carpenter earning $5 a day when they were married.She said her mother loaned him money with which he started in business.MEXICAN EDITOR SLAIN

Prompted by Newspaper
Attacks.MEXICO CITY, May 25.—A sensation was caused today by the publication of news of the shooting and killing last night of Jesus Z. Moreno, editor of El Heraldo de Mexico, by Deputy Tejeda Llorca, following a dispute at the entrance to the Interior Department Building.In newspaper and political circles it is believed the shooting grew out of the editor's vigorous attacks in his newspaper on what he regarded as political evils. Deputy Llorca is an uncle of Adalberto Tejeda, Governor of Vera Cruz, and it is said his resentment was directed more against Moreno's criticism of the State Government of Vera Cruz than against any personal attacks.Senor Moreno has been well known since the early revolutionary days and was active in politics. He assumed the editorship of El Her-

COMMUNITY COUNCIL NEEDS FUND OF $18,000

Decides to Ask Agencies Represented in Organizations to Contribute.

A resolution to ask each of the 53 benevolent or charitable agencies represented in the Community Council to contribute an amount not to exceed 1 1/2 per cent of their annual gift total to raise the $18,000 needed for the work. In the words of the council for the coming year was unanimously adopted at a meeting of the council in the Chamber of Commerce room yesterday.

The council, now closing its first year facing a deficit of about $1,000, must have assurance that the needed fund will be forthcoming, or else disband. J. Lienberger Davis, chairman of the ways and means committee, declared. Individual contributors supplied the money for the experimental year, but feel that agencies in the council should hereafter care for the work at their own expense, now that its value has been demonstrated, Davis said.

Elwood Street, director of the council in his annual report, told of the organization work of the body and recommended united planning of activities this year. He urged cooperation of all agencies, sects and sections of the city.

Recommendations that a speakers' bureau be formed for publicity purposes and that a centrally located social service exchange for registration of families receiving all established were adopted at the meeting.

WILLS SAINTE CLAIRE —the Inevitable

C. Harold Wills could easily have designed and built a larger and a heavier motor car. Instead of that, Mr. Wills has built in the Wills Sainte Claire a finer car. Supreme excellence is not measured in yards or pounds. A light car with a wheelbase of 121 inches, because that wheelbase combines (as no other) ample passenger-capacity; convenience in parking, turning and handling and the fullest measure of economy. A car safe at all speeds, constructed of Molybdenum Steel, the toughest of all steels, in order that, with lightness, the car should be the sturdiest and longest-lived car in the world. A car which, with its amazingly powerful eight-cylinder motor and perfection of balance and weight-distribution, should establish new standards of swift, effortless travel and luxurious riding. A car engineered and built to be the finest motor car in the world.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turn gray or streaked, add an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody will tell it has been applied. You simply dip a clean soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

BUSTER BROWN SHOES

Made Upon the Brown Foot-Shaping Lasts

No less an authority than Dr. W. H. Riley, Neurologist of the Battle Creek Sanitarium, says: "The normal functions of the organs of the body and even the brain itself, depend upon unhampered blood circulation and mechanical efficiency of the feet." And he adds that "the result of wrong-shaped Shoes is an interference with the circulation, a general congestion and weakening of the organs, with backache, headache and nervous exhaustion, added to the local foot diseases."

To insure grace and beauty, to prevent annoying physical defects, to secure having sturdy, healthy feet, bodies and active minds, it is your duty to see that your children wear Shoes which embody the new scientific principles in shoemaking—which are found in the fullest degree in Buster Brown Shoes for boys and for girls of 2 to 16.

KEY TO TERMS IN INDIA HOME RULE CAMPAIGN

Expressions Used in News of British Possession Are Clarified for American Reader.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.

RANGOON, Burma, April 24.—The following explanation of the terms used in the campaign for home rule in India and description of some of the Indian governmental institutions may enable the American readers to understand more easily the news of that movement:

Boycott—Refusal to wear or use any foreign-made goods; sometimes intended also to show the strength of the non-co-operators.

Civil Disobedience—Refusal not only to co-operate with the present Government, but also to pay taxes to it or be bound by its laws.

Hartal—Voluntary general suspension of business to show disapproval of something the Government has done or is about to do; sometimes intended also to show the strength of the non-co-operators.

Khalifat—A movement on the part of Mohammedans, especially those of India, originating as a protest against the peace terms offered to Turkey at the close of the war, and now seeking the restoration of the Khalif's temporal power and the freeing of the Mohammedans from Christian rule. A deputation to the Viceroy, Lord Reading, stated the minimum demand thus: "Arabia, as delimited by Moslem authorities, and the holy places of Islam must remain under the control of the Khalifat. Islam has ever associated temporal powers with the Khalifat. We, therefore, consider that to make the Sultan (of Turkey) a mere puppet would add insult to injury and would only be understood by Indian Moslems as an affront given to them by a combination of Christian Powers."

The All-India Moslem League—Established in 1906, the chief object of which is "to protect and advance the political and other rights of Mussulmans in India." It also supports the Khalifat and non-co-operation movements.

No-co-operation—Refusal to hold office under the British Government, to patronize its law courts or schools or to attend social functions given by Government officials or in their honor.

Swadeshi—Literally, Indigenous, or of the land. Defined by M. K. Gandhi as "that spirit in us which restricts us to the use and service of our immediate surroundings, to the exclusion of the more remote." Thus, in religion, he would follow only the forms of worship used by his ancestors; in politics he would make use only of those institutions which were indigenous; in economic life he would use only things produced by himself or his immediate neighbors and would serve only his industry which are native to his own country.

Swaraj—Self-rule.

Volunteers—Men who have pledged themselves to serve the interests of either the Indian National Congress or the All-India Moslem League.

Congress—The Indian National Congress, founded in 1885 and meeting annually; present object is "the attainment of Swaraj by the people of India by all legitimate and peaceful means," the qualification, "within the British Empire," being omitted intentionally; works between sessions through "Working Committee" appointed Gandhi as dictator at Ahmedabad meeting in December, 1921.

Assembly—The Indian Legislative Assembly, the lower house of the Indian Legislature of which the upper is the Council of State; established under the Government of India act of 1919, as a part of the Chelmsford-Montagu reform scheme.

COUNTY COLLECTORS HERE FOR 16TH ANNUAL MEETING

Kiel to Preside at Banquet Tonight.

The sixteenth annual meeting of the County Collectors' Association of Missouri began today at the American Hotel Annex, and will continue through tomorrow and Saturday. Mayor Kiel welcomed the members, after which it was announced that a business session would be held in the afternoon.

The committee in charge of arrangements is composed of City Collector Kiel, License Collector Chapman, James L. Donnell, Hillsboro; A. F. Werremeyer, St. Charles; W. W. Strack, Herman, and William J. Godt, Union.

VERDICT OF CARELESSNESS

Another verdict of criminal carelessness, holding Henry J. Vogel, 27 years old, of 4305 Dewey avenue, responsible for an automobile accident in which two lives were lost, was returned by a Coroner's jury today in the case of Joseph Lodiak, 35, of 2818 McNair avenue, who died at the city hospital at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday from injuries suffered at 3:30 a. m. Sunday.

The accident occurred at Broadway and Neosho street when an automobile driven by Vogel collided with a lamp post. Monroe Rick, 35, of 2846 McNair avenue, an occupant of the automobile, was killed instantly. The inquest into Rick's death was held Monday.

Unparalleled Announcement

Proposed New Building of the

LIBERTY HOSPITAL

S. W. Cor. Taylor and Washington Avs.

The Liberty Hospital Building Company—now located at 4267 Delmar Bl.—will shortly erect a large and thoroughly modern hospital building on the southwest corner of Taylor and Washington Avs.

In order to avoid disappointing numerous friends who had expected to obtain memberships in the Liberty Hospital Building Company's previous issue but who did not get in on time, our Board of Directors has decided to repeat the offer of Free Service on an additional 500 shares of stock.

This Offer of Free Service in Perpetuity

...is in addition to the annual dividend of 7% payable semi-annually—and is practically "health insurance," as each holder of one or more shares of the stock of the Building Company is entitled to free office, surgical, osteopathic and medical treatment at the hospital; x-ray, analytical, and all forms of laboratory tests, at actual cost of plates and chemicals; eyeglasses fitted and furnished at cost of lenses and frames only; and a reduction of 25% on all regular charges for room, board and services incurred while a patient in the hospital. Purchasers of stock may take advantage of this FREE service offer NOW—at the Liberty Hospital, 4267 Delmar Bl.

The Liberty Hospital was founded in 1918, on the principle that registered physicians of any school of medicine or osteopathy—in good standing—might bring their patients to the hospital and be assured of their proper and scientific care and attention. We have received such splendid co-operation from the profession and friends of osteopathy that the original building has long since been outgrown. Following a signed statement of a few representative St. Louisans who have purchased memberships:

"We, the undersigned, have carefully examined the proposition offered by the LIBERTY HOSPITAL BUILDING CO., in connection with the Liberty Hospital, and state that, in our judgment, it offers better returns for a hundred-dollar investment than anything we know. We recommend that the man or woman of moderate means investigate this offer, as it will be well worth their while."

Your Responsibility Lives After You

A man's responsibility for his family's welfare cannot, with justice, be laid down even at his death. For it is equally as necessary for him to provide for a careful and wise administration of his affairs after his death, as it is to acquire the money and property he intends shall be his family's protection.

This can be accomplished by making a will, and appointing this Company as Executor and Trustee.

Only One Complaint

THERE is only one complaint ever made against Edwin Clapp Shoes—
“They never wear out.”

This may be a figure of speech, but there is a big element of truth in it.

You might ask a thousand Edwin Clapp Shoe wearers and one and all will tell you, “You can’t wear them out.”

And that is how our kindly friends compliment the material, the work, the zeal with which for sixty-nine years we have been making Edwin Clapp Shoes.

You have heard of the Edwin Clapp Shoe. It’s a shoe people talk about, because they can’t help it. But you will not know until you try a pair how fine, how durable, how comfortable and shapely they really are.

GERMAN CONSUL PIQUED
AT MENTION OF WAR

Dr. Hugo Mundt Quits Luncheon When Chairman Refers to Late Conflict.

Dr. Hugo Mundt, German consul in St. Louis, abruptly left the luncheon in honor of Brazilian guests at the Planters Hotel yesterday because the chairman, F. Ernest Cramer, mentioned the fact that Brazil followed the United States in declaring war against Germany.

Cramer did not discuss the causes of the war or any of the controversies involved. He was referring to the traditional good will between the United States and Brazil, when he said:

“It was not 48 hours after our declaration of war against Germany that Brazil entered the war, declaring that any country which was an enemy of the United States was also an enemy of Brazil.”

At this remark, Dr. Mundt arose and left the speakers’ table. He said afterward that he thought the chairman’s remark “uncalled for,” but added that he would take no further notice of the matter, as the offense was probably unintentional.

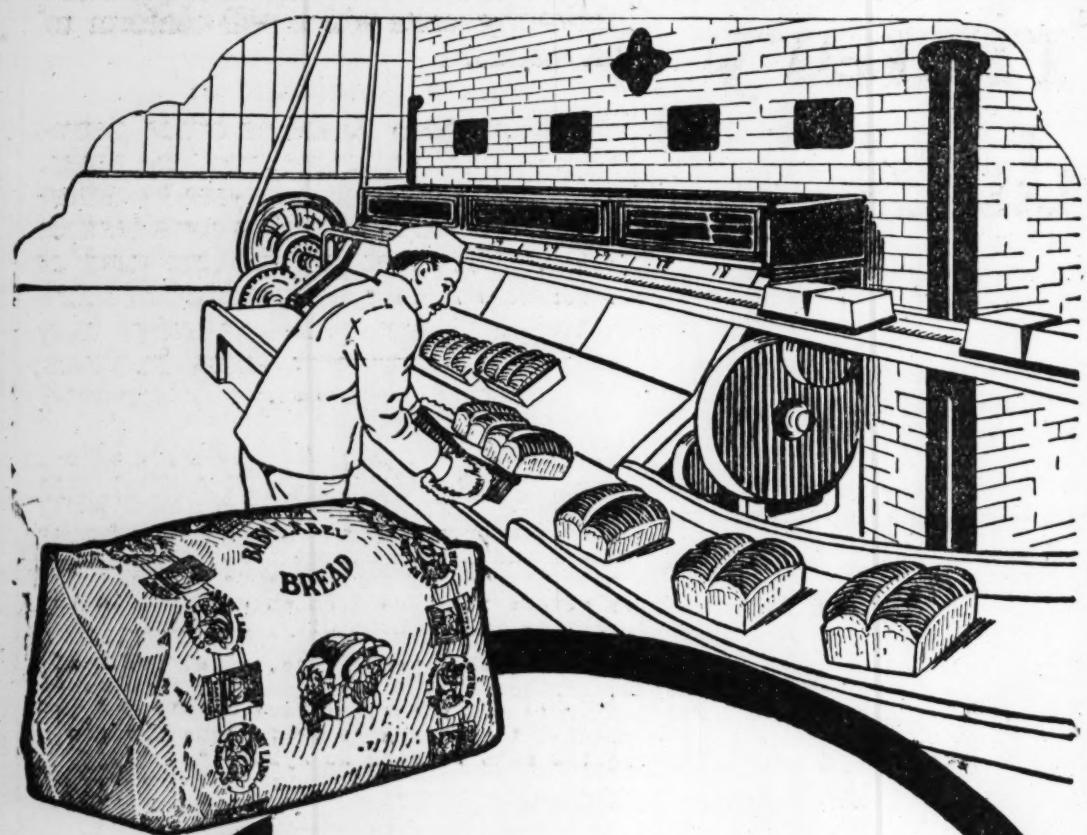

Sebastiao Sampayo, Brazilian commercial attaché at Washington, formerly consul here, spoke, inviting St. Louis business men to attend and exhibit in the Brazilian centennial exposition, to be held next fall and winter in Rio de Janeiro.

Miss Emily Ladd, president of the Brazilian League for Emancipation of Women’s was also a speaker. Former Ambassador David R. Francis spoke of the coming exposition and of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, in which Brazil had one of the finest of the national buildings and exhibits.

SUES ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, May 25.—Alleging the Anti-Saloon League had libeled him by characterizing him as the “Sancho Panso of the Liquor Don Quixotes” and otherwise holding him up to public ridicule, Charles Talbot Stout of Port Huron, Conn., manufacturer of proprietary medicines, yesterday filed suit in Federal Court for $250,000.

The Anti-Saloon League—both the national organization and the New England branch—the American Issue Publishing Co. and officials of all three organizations were named as defendants.

THREE MEN AND SEAPLANE FAIL TO SAVE 12-YEAR-OLD BATHER

Atlantic City Lifeguard, in Overalls and Heavy Shoes first to Reach Child's Side.

Special to the Post-Dispatch
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 25.—Despite a spectacular battle in which a seaplane was pressed into service in the attempt to rescue her, Edna Bowers, 12 years old, of Philadelphia, drowned while bathing at the foot of Maryland avenue, here, late yesterday afternoon. Three men who attempted to rescue the girl were brought exhausted to the shore through the daring of a beach guard. Two of them are in the city hospital but will recover.

Nicholas Dirago, a captain of the beach patrol, was working, clad in overalls and heavy shoes, two blocks distant, when his attention was attracted by shouts and he saw the girl struggling near the Garden Pier. He ran out fully clad and dove overboard.

A. Livingstone Allen, pilot at the Curtiss Seaplane station at the inlet, flew to the rescue. Life Guard Roger McKenna had started to swim to her when the seaplane passed overhead. Pilot Allen saw him swimming down and took him on board. They taxied to where Capt. Dirago had caught up with the body of the child.

When the seaplane reached them, Capt. Dirago was keeping the child's head above the water. They placed her in the machine and sped back to the shore. Dr. Fitzsimmons and Dr. Lipschultz were waiting on the beach and worked over the child an hour, but she failed to regain consciousness.

BOY'S CONFESSION EXONERATES WOMAN IN CHILD MURDER CASE

Says He Kidnapped Girl to Get Fortune—Corset Saleswoman Had Been Arrested.

Special to the Post-Dispatch
CAMDEN, N. J., May 25.—George Elmer Munro, 18 years old, of Camden, confessed to Prosecutor W. L. Weller at noon today that he had kidnapped and murdered Ida Kramer, 7 years old, whose body was found in Newton Creek a month ago.

"I was down and out and needed money," he said. "I had read where kidnappers got fortunes. So I went to Woodbury and brought the girl to Camden. I started to take her to an old cabin I had built along the creek. But she started to cry. It frightened me. I picked up a rock and hit her on the head several times. I was afraid I had killed her, so I dragged her body over to the creek and put it there."

Munro's confession exonerates Miss Esther Tannebaum, saleswoman for a New York corset house, who was arrested as the abductor of the child several weeks ago.

MAN U. R. "SPOTTERS" ACCUSED OF TAKING $217.40 ACQUITTED

Jury Finds Roland D. Souders, Former Conductor, Not Guilty of Embezzlement of Fares.

Roland D. Souders, of Oak Hill, Mo., former United Railways conductor on the Kirkwood-Ferguson line, was acquitted today by a jury in Circuit Judge Miller's court of a charge of embezzlement of fares.

The indictment charged that in May and June, 1920, Souders appropriated to his own use $217.40 in fares. Testimony to this effect was given by 14 auditors, known to street car conductors as "spotters." Souders denied the charge.

On Jan. 23 Henry C. Jessen, a former conductor on the same line, was acquitted of a charge of having embezzled $101.85 in fares in the same period as was charged in the indictment of Souders.

Every Standard Oil Product A Primary Product

The term by-product is susceptible of misinterpretation. In the manufacturing activities of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) there are no by-products. The making of every product is a separate activity. Each is made to conform to a predetermined standard, and is judged strictly on its merits as a primary product.

Lubricating oils made by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) conform to a standard fixed by lubricating engineers to meet the needs of various types of machinery. The standard being fixed, it is necessary to obtain crude oil of the particular type best adapted to yield the lubricating units which will conform to this standard.

There are many kinds of crude petroleum, each differing one from the other. Even between the oils delivered by different wells in the same field a considerable variance has been noted. One kind of crude oil will yield a maximum of lubricating oil of fine quality; another may yield little, or none, of these fractions, but will yield a maximum of gasoline.

In selecting crudes for lubricants, for instance, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has been careful to choose those which have the physical characteristics necessary to maintain the correct lubricating body under working conditions. These crudes are then carefully processed and refined to produce the long line of lubricants manufactured and sold by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

Their manufacture is a business in itself. From the choice of materials which go into them, down to the last operation of refining, they are of primary consideration. This care in the selection of raw materials; every step of the refining process, and the fact that products manufactured by this Company are of superior quality is recognized generally. This is evidenced by the fact that during 1921 nearly 25 million gallons of Polarine, the Perfect Motor Oil, were needed to supply the demand.

So with every product refined by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). Each is made to perform a certain service, and each goes to the consumer with the unqualified guarantee of this Company that it is exactly as represented and that it will give a maximum of service, at a price which is fair to all.

The Curse of the Kimono

How It Can Kill a Husband's Love

No Man Would Say That He Loved a Woman Because of Her Clothes, but the Man Who Loves Her in Spite of Them Is as Rare as Radium.

By SOPHIE LOEB.

BETWEEN you and me, if sifted down, the kimono has been one of the biggest factors in the forum of the divorce courts, and many a marriage failure can be traced directly to that seemingly inoffensive article.

Yet how offensive it has become in any number of cases is a question that can be answered in many a home by a much-harrowed husband.

"It was that everlasting slippery kimono that actually broke up my home," the husband told me. "It somehow seemed to affect the woman herself. She just got slipped and careless-careless about her home, careless about me, careless about everything."

"I can't just explain it," he said, "but I grew to hate the looks of it, for she wore it from morning to night. Sometimes she changed the color, but that was all."

"When we were first married she wore it only in her room, and always was careful about her dress otherwise. She made herself look neat even if we were all alone."

"She freshened up for our meals and it was pleasant to see her around but soon she spoke about how 'comfy' the kimono was and practically lived in it except when she went out of doors. And I believe if she could have 'gotten away with it,' she would have worn the kimono on the streets."

"It go so that I was ashamed to bring my friends home because, while she made the apology to our guests with a 'You won't mind my not dressing this evening, I'm so tired,' yet I could not help see the effect on our visitors."

"Now this may seem like a little thing," explained the man, "something that one should overlook in a wife, and pay more stress to her other qualities. But the truth is that the kimono naturally affected all her other qualities."

"She just sat down at the heel like, and became quarrelsome. I honestly believe that if she had occasionally changed her clothes she would have felt different and acted different, and many of our quarrels would have been avoided."

This husband summed it up quite well.

When, oh, when will women realize that clothes have a lot to do with their temperament and their temper as well? And there is considerable psychology about too.

Do you want dress, and you know you look right? Then you feel right and act right. But wear the same old thing all the time and you get the same feeling, and it does not change. A fresh dress might give you a fresh viewpoint—a fresh view of life.

Furthermore, things get on men's nerves as well as women's. They may not say so in so many words, but they feel it, and very often unconsciously.

While the kimono is a very valuable garment, it has its time and place. The woman who goes on the theory that she does not mind what she wears in her own home will wake up some day to find that she has driven everybody away from home. She may even become unloved and unloved.

No man would say that he loved a woman because of her clothes, but the man who loves her in spite of them, if they are ugly, is as rare as radium.

It is all very well to be comfortable.

UNCOMMON SENSE

By JOHN BLAKE.

WANTS.

MAN is a bundle of wants from birth. His first want, which is food, must be satisfied, and usually is.

His second want, which is clothing, is supplied, in some fashion or other by his mother.

She supplies his third want, which is care.

Through childhood he continues to want. Almost the first thing he learns to say is "I want," following the two words by the name of the desired object.

By the time he is 10 years old his wants are so numerous that he himself could not enumerate them all at once.

But gradually a few big wants begin to grow prominent among many little ones, and upon the nature and extent of these big wants depends the future of their owner.

Wanting—wanting badly—accomplish miracles for a normal being, equipped with an average brain and normal health.

But they cannot accomplish miracles unless their wants are the right sort and unless in time they grow so big and so important that all the other wants sink into insignificance beside them.

The man, for example, who wants wealth, has got for a time to stop wanting comfort and play, and a thousand of the pleasant things of life that other men consider indispensable.

He has got to think about that big want when he wakes in the morning and to go to sleep at night still thinking of it.

Perhaps—even probably, the wealth that is the answer to the want may not be worth dropping all those other wants for when it is attained.

But that is the only way that it can be attained save by the money-making genius, and even he must be ready, if need be, to forget to want other things if the gaining of them interferes with the pursuit of wealth.

The same thing is true of great achievement, which is far more important than wealth and sure to be worth the sacrifice of smaller wants, which it will mean.

Our desires are much like a garden. Those who are given the best start will flourish and become satisfied. But they will do so at the expense of others which must be neglected.

Wanting is important and intelligent wanting is necessary to happiness. We know it usually by a more pretentious name, which is ambition.

LONDON.—Some of the new dress fabrics are of surpassing loveliness. For capes and sunshades, and occasionally for dresses, there is a chevron madras muslin in striking colors. One design is a Persian pattern which in this more flexible fabric seems likely to edge cretonne that is not too young and not too old—not clever enough to be restless, and not stupid enough to be lazy, not ugly enough to be embarrassed, and not pretty enough to be vain.

He doesn't want just a cook, or just a nurse, or just a seamstress, or just a mother.

He wants a woman of education, refinement, tact, character and experience—not too young and not too old—not clever enough to be restless, and not stupid enough to be lazy, not ugly enough to be embarrassed, and not pretty enough to be vain.

He wants her to be educated and well-bred, and he wants her to cook and wash dishes, and sweep and dust, and mend and rock the baby to sleep, and scold the oldest boy and curl the little girl's hair and be ready to the table when he comes home at night.

He wants her to be a good cook, a good housekeeper, a good seamstress, a good nurse, a good mother.

How Much They Expect

"Are they all crazy about office work? What's the great fascination about a typewriter and a desk?"

And he really thinks that the country is going to the dogs and if it does, he'll blame the women for it.

I wonder if he would expect to get a man of education, refinement, tact, character and experience enough to be active and enthusiastic, and old enough to be steady and reliable, clever enough to be quick and well-balanced enough to be reasonable, good-looking, neat, intelligent, ambitious and efficient—all for $60 a month and board. Would he, especially if he wanted the man to tend the furnace and sift the ashes, and wash the windows?

MY FAVORITE STORIES

By IRVIN S. COBB

ABSOLUTELY NOTHING TO DEBATE.

THE official—there is one in every community, and sometimes unthinking people call him a butter-in, was progressing on his homeward way. It was a beautiful Saturday evening. The long, soft twilight of summertime impended. All nature seemed at peace. But of a sudden the loose prehensile ears of the pedestrian were assailed by sounds which to his eager perception betokened a bitter quarrel between a man and a woman who stood on the porch of a vine-clad cottage hard by.

To the Samaritan this seemed an opportunity especially provided by a benign Providence for his professional ministrations. Without a moment's hesitation he opened the yard gate and hurried toward the seemingly belligerent pair.

"Tut, tut," he cried. "Tut, tut, my friends, this will never do. Pray cease this unseemly argument."

The couple turned toward him. It was the man who spoke: "What business of yours is it, comin' bustin' in here a-tut-tutting like a gas engine? Besides, this here ain't no argument."

"Yes, but I heard—" began the peacemaker.

"Never mind what you heard," broke in the husband. "To be an argument there's got to be a difference of opinion, ain't they?"

"Tea, there has," conceded the peacemaker.

"Well, they ain't no difference of opinion here," said the man. "My wife thinks I ain't going to give her none of my week's wages, and I know durned well I ain't!"

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

BLIGHTED AMBITION.

(A French lion tamer says that only those who are gifted by nature can get along safely with wild animals.)

When I was young I used to yearn
To stroll about a cage
And brave, with placid unconcern,
A lion's savage rage.
I hoped, on reaching man's estate,
To look him in the eye,
Although he stared his furious hate
When he came snarling by.

Arrived in gay resplendent tights
That left my movements free,
I meant to dodge the vicious bites
The monster aimed at me,
And then, in accents stern and gruff,
To make him sheath his claws
And cease his growls and do his stuff
Amid profound applause.

I do not mind admitting now,
Though frost has touched my hair,
That I'd be pleased if I could cow
The lion in his lair.
I'd give—well, almost anything—
If I possessed the skill
To make the growling jungle king
Obey my human will.

But these great brutes are highly miffed
And prone to slash and maim
A man unless he has the gift
To make the creatures tame.
To me was this denied by fate
And though I'm not afraid
Since I have grown to man's estate
I've pined another trade.
